Targets of recall defend decision to close school

Three Claremont school board members, targets of a recall campaign, have cited fiscal responsibility for their decision to close Sycamore Elementary School in June and move San Antonio Continuation High onto the premises.

Facing a recall drive are Beverly Shacklett, William Anderson and board President Ernest Taylor.

"Here we are trying to be fiscally responsible, and now we are going to be pushed up against the wall," commented Mrs. Shacklett.

"Gov. Brown has said that school districts must show him that they are fiscally responsible before he will come up with additional money."

"I felt that my election to the board gave me a responsibility to all voters in the district," Taylor commented.

Anderson said that "our children and quality education must take priority over special interests."

Mrs. Shacklett said she was disappointed with the attitude of certain members of the community, "who didn't want to listen to us" when the board asked Supt. R. S. Kirkendall questions about facility usage.

"I listen to all sides," she said.

Mrs. Shacklett noted that the district has lost 1,000 elementary students in the past seven years, and that enrollment at Sycamore has declined from 336 to 284 students since 1971.

"I was told by the superintendent that movement of students from Sycamore to Mountain View and Oakmont would not affect the quality of the educational program," she said.

Mrs. Shacklett said that the district will reduce expenditures by $50,000 a year by eliminating Sycamore, and that means $50,000 more each year to spend on programs.

She said that she considers all areas of the district when she makes a judgment, "not just a specific school."

"I try to base all my decisions on the future, as well as the immediate situation," she said.

Mrs. Shacklett noted that the continuation high school needs a permanent facility, rather than the five portables now used.

She said that state law dictates that any student wishing to attend a continuation school may do so.

Taylor also cited the same reasons for the moving of San Antonio, and the closing of Sycamore.

"I have, in all instances, voted on issues based on this responsibility, and I sincerely feel that discontinuance of the elementary program at Sycamore is the best interest of the entire district," Taylor commented.

He said that the district has the highest tax rate in the county and will have to increase the rate in 1978 to maintain the present program.

Taylor said he felt that a recall election would be badly-timed and a waste of money to the district, particularly since the next regular election is scheduled for March, 1977.

He said the election would cost at least $20,000.

He cited declining enrollment and declining funding as necessitating reduction of an administrative unit "in our continuing effort to maintain excellence in education."

Anderson asked that consideration be given to the best interests of the schools, rather than how recall will affect any individual.

"I believe that recall would have a detrimentally divisive effect in the community," Anderson said.

He said that past and present boards and the superintendent have concurred that an elementary school south of Foothill Boulevard should be closed.

Anderson recalled that about four years ago at a workshop Kirkendall recommended moving San Antonio to Sycamore.

"We didn't want to combine it with an elementary school," Anderson said.

He said that San Antonio will be undersized at the end of this year, and that the district is already delinquent in not moving the school.

"We were obligated last year by state law to allow any student who wanted to attend the school to go there," he explained.

All three cited district figures which project that expenditures will exceed income by $202,416 in 1976-77, $433,004 in 1977-78, and $1,374,170 in 1979-80.

District reserves will have been depleted, and programs will have been reduced by $936,275 in three years, the trio said.

Seek black Americans to fight in Angola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black American veterans are being recruited here to fight in Angola, and organizers say several hundred ex-military men are ready to join in the civil war there alongside Western-backed forces next month.

Organizer Larry Mitchell, a 34-year-old Vietnam veteran who works as a technician in a Washington-area hospital, refused to say who is footing the bill for his mercenary expedition, but he would not rule out the CIA.

On Wednesday, Mitchell said his phone was ringing off the hook — the result of a weekend advertisement he placed in several newspapers: "Veterans Wanted — Medical and technical skills and willing to travel."

"I'm a trained, unemployed and professional fighter and I can be helpful," recruit Wilbert Goodall said. "I was trained to do this type of work. Out here in civilian life no one has any use for it."

Meanwhile, dozens of British mercenaries flew out of London on Wednesday, bound for Africa and the Angola fighting.

The men generally were silent and many tried to hide their faces from photographers as they boarded planes. But some said they had been recruited by Security Advisory Services, a firm in Surrey, a county southwest of London, and were to be paid $300 a week, tax free, by the government of Zaire, an African neighbor of embattled Angola.

"We've been told to keep our mouths shut," said one of the mercenaries. "This is worth hundreds of pounds to me and there's no way I can get that kind of money doing anything else."

Between 40 and 50 men left London on one flight and about 100 others reportedly followed later in the day.

In Zambia, Roy Innis of the New York-based Congress for Racial Equality said he would seek black Americans to fight in Angola.

Innis said CORE cannot legally recruit U.S. volunteers, but he said CORE legally can sign up medical technicians to serve in Angola.

"If a combat veteran puts a medical badge on his arm and fools me, if someone says to me he's going there to stick needles in arms and then he picks up a rifle, I can't help that," Innis said.

State drought nearing record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's the rainy season in California, but the state is drier than it has been in 72 years. And weather forecasters can't say when rain will come to relieve the parching drought.

Barely half an inch of rain — .59 inches — has fallen in Los Angeles since last July 31, making it the second worst drought on record. Only 1903-04 was worse, .57 inches.

The picture isn't any brighter elsewhere in California, where farmers and ski resorts are hurting from rainfall and snowfall levels severely below normal.

The lack of rain has extended the brush fire season in Southern California, where a blaze last week destroyed or damaged 22 homes in San Clemente.

Three Northern California counties, Glenn, Colusa and Yolo, have asked or are considering asking the state to declare them drought disaster areas.

Yolo County officials say that if conditions don't improve, water use this summer will have to be cut back 40 per cent.

In California's rich, fertile Central Valley, Merced County supervisors have asked Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. to declare the county a disaster area. Madera County and other valley counties are also considering seeking such relief if the drought continues.

And in the Napa and Sonoma wine country, grape growers who usually start pruning this time of year are finding the warm spring-like weather has prompted some vines to begin budding. If spring frosts are severe, growers say the crop could be reduced by up to 50 per cent.

At ski resorts, snow is being measured in inches rather than the usual feet. Betty Layton, manager of the North Tahoe Chamber of Commerce, said, "There are cancellations by many people because of the lack of snow."

Skiers are dodging rocks and tree stumps on their downhill runs. Two skiers were killed last week at Mammoth Mountain when they hit rocks. Although the snow pack is below normal, a Mammoth representative said, "Our snow conditions are good and neither of the accidents was due to the snow conditions."

In Los Angeles, the Department of Water and Power is selling record amounts of water because residents are sprinkling their lawns more than usual.

Ranchers in Southern California have to buy feed for their cattle, and farmers are irrigating crops earlier than usual.

The National Weather Service said a stationary high pressure area over the Western United States is deflecting Pacific storms into the Plains States and over the Great Lakes to the New England states, which are getting higher than normal snow and rain this winter.

The only hopeful outlook is that in previous drought years normal or above-normal rainfall came in February and March, a Weather Service spokesman said.

Weather

Continued fair and warm today with occasional high clouds, slightly cooler Friday. High today 85, low tonight, 44, high Friday 79. The high Wednesday was 80 and the overnight low was 45. Friday's sunrise 6:50, sunset 5:19.

Brown says he'll back 'state-run' proposal

Half of physicians meet insurance deadline

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

About half of the 9,500 Southern California phsicians met the Wednesday deadline reluctantly and paid their first quarterly premiums for 1976 malpractice insurance, a brokerage official said.

Word of the onrush of payments was announced by an official of Johnson and Higgins brokerage firm where doctors delivered checks which in some cases represented increases of 327 per cent over last year's premiums.

Others did not pay, choosing instead to go without insurance, stop their practice or wait the outcome of legislation pending in Sacramento.

On Wednesday, Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. said he would now back a "state-run, doctor-controlled fund" which would provide a short-term solution of the medical malpractice insurance crisis.

One of the bills was passed by the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday. The bill introduced by Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, creates a liability fund and calls for the voluntary premium of $4,000 a year.

This bill has the support of the United Physicians of California.

Spokesmen for the United Physicians, a group organized last summer for the sole purpose of instituting malpractice reforms in the state, said that all medical and related groups are supporting each other.

"Contrary to what Robert Gnaizda, deputy secretary of the Health and Welfare Agency, said about doctors being fragmented, we are all working together," said Dr. Lawrence Pleet of Encino, a member of the United Physicians group.

Dr. Stephen Proffitt, president of the local District 14 of the Los Angeles Medical Association, also said the physicians in the state are united and are being supported by boards of the hospitals, by other professional groups and by the public.

United Physicians started as a revolt group that felt traditional medical leadership in the state was not solving the problem.

Now they have the support and cooperation of California Medical Association, which supplied $100,000 and LACMA, which provided $25,000 to UPC for expenses, according to Dr. Pleet.

While the Song Bill would create a liability insurance fund through voluntary premiums from doctors, it also strengthens existing legislation which was included in the Keene Act passed last summer.

It is estimated that if each doctor paid a $4,000 premium, a pool of $120 million would be generated. Proponents of the bill say it will be financially sound for five or six years, allowing time for other needed reforms.

"Tort reform is critical to the entire problem of managing the liability crisis," Dr. Proffitt said.

"The Keene Bill expands and strengthens the state Board of Medical Quality Control and, for the first time, makes possible the self-policing of the medical profession by peers.

"Until this bill was passed, the Board of Medical Examiners was just a servant of the state Department of Health with no budget or power of its own.

"For the first time, this governing body will have its own budget and the ability to hire qualified investigators. Thus, the medical board can seek out and discipline physicians when necessary.

"But, although the Keene Bill was passed several months ago, Gov. Edmund Brown has not yet appointed a single member to it.

"Until Brown acts, this board cannot function," he said.

Dr. Proffitt explained that, under the act, regional boards would also be set up for investigation of physicians in the state.

"Whenever a doctor was brought up on a legitimate litigation, he

CHP goes fishing on L.A. freeway

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Highway Patrol had to go fishing on the freeway for 1,000 little ones that got away.

The missing mackerels made motoring mucky Wednesday as 20 cars skidded and a semi trailer rig jackknifed into the wall of an underpass after two 30-gallon drums bounced out the side door of a van filled with the smelly fellows.

"When I get home my cats will attack me," said CHP Sgt. Glen Kirkpatrick after supervising the cleanup of the mess which closed the transition tunnel linking the San Diego and Harbor freeways during Wednesday morning's rush hour. No one was reported injured.

HAPPINESS IS 'WIGGLING FINGERS'

Surgeons restore 4 severed fingers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A team of surgeons has successfully restored to a woman the use of four fingers chopped off her hand in an industrial accident.

"It's wonderful to have my fingers back," Martha Y. Carpenter said Wednesday. "I thought they were lost forever."

Jack Eshleman, public relations officer for Ralph K. Davies Medical Center, said Miss Carpenter, 25, of Milpitas, now has feeling in all the fingers on her left hand and can wiggle them if she wants.

Miss Carpenter was injured Jan. 19 at a Santa Clara plastic packaging company when a cutting machine severed all the fingers on her left hand, except for the thumb.

She underwent surgery for 15 hours while two plastic surgeons and a hand specialist used microbinoculars to sew tiny blood vessels together. Eshleman said some sutures were only one-third the diameter of a human hair and the accompanying needle is so tiny that a forceps is needed to hold it.

Malpractice issue...

would be investigated by the regional board," said the physician.

"Until now, doctors have been trained not to interfere in legal or business matters, but we are learning to get involved.

"Most of us have been taught from the time we entered medical school to be extremely careful in judging a disease or a peer. Because someone else did things differently didn't mean he was wrong.

"We've been taught to be flexible and not to be hypercritical of others."

Dr. Proffitt added that, until recently, it has been very difficult for the directors of one hospital to find out why a certain physician was no longer on the staff of another institution.

"But under the Song Bill, a doctor could no longer hide facts from the Board of Medical Quality Control or the Hospital Council of California.

"This has always been a real problem."

At present, doctors sitting as members of discipline boards are vulnerable to class action suits by doctors being investigated.

A section of the Song bill protects peer review committees from damages for certain actions taken by them.

"These additional protections and guidelines would help the medical profession better regulate itself," said the LACMA spokesman.

Legislation introduced Wednesday by Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., would reduce the number of claims in the courts. This bill would require that malpractice claims be screened before suits are filed and would weed out unfounded or frivolous claims.

According to UPC statistics, malpractice problems are not the result of the few doctors who are repeat offenders.

Rather, 80 per cent of the suits are filed against doctors who have never had a malpractice claim. In fact, six months ago, one out of every three doctors in the state has a suit pending against him.

Many of those sued are renowned professors and medical leaders who are being sued for maloccurence, not any malpractice in their profession.

While only seven per cent of the cases ever go to trial, the legal costs to the medical profession are staggering, UPC officials said.

In addition, Dr. Pleet said, the shortage of doctors in California is growing more acute every day, partly as the result of financial uncertainty facing doctors.

It is estimated that California lacks 2,500 primary care physicians at present. Each year, the state loses 1,500 doctors through death, retirement or leaving the state.

The state only graduates some 750 from medical schools so it depends on recruiting about 800 from out of the state.

But, according to Dr. Pleet, new doctors are not coming to California because of the malpractice insurance crisis.

He said that only 30 per cent of the young doctors who paid $125 to take the state medical examinations this month even showed up for the examinations.

"Our real crisis is providing adequate medical care in the state," said Dr. Pleet.

Dr. Proffitt said that the next two days are of utmost importance to both the doctors and every potential patient in the state.

The passing of legislation to lessen the crisis affects everyone, he said.

Solons ax Nixon name for freeway

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Senate has voted to remove former President Richard Nixon's name from a Southern California freeway, despite an argument that was an unwarranted "slap in the face."

The Senate voted 23-5 Wednesday to approve the resolution by Sen. Nate Holden, D-Culver City.

The measure, which now goes to the Assembly, changes the name of State Route 90 from the Richard M. Nixon Freeway to the Marina Freeway.

The route would go by Nixon's first law office and his birthplace in Yorba Linda.

Holden said only 2½ miles of the superhighway have been built in the Marina del Rey area of Los Angeles County. Although the freeway is named after Nixon, local residents call it the Marina Freeway, he said.

Holden said the change was requested by local chamber of commerce officials.

Cable TV prospects dim for Claremont, council decides

Claremont residents are going to have to wait quite a while before they can have cable TV.

The Claremont City Council Tuesday night received and filed a report from a council-appointed committee which had been studying possible services for 18 months.

The council decided that cable TV is not feasible at this time although committee member John Tessier reported that chances are slim that Claremont ever will have cable TV.

Tessier cited one main problem — the initial cost of setting up cable TV would be $2 million.

Tessier said that the committee learned there is a definite need for a cable TV system in some areas of Claremont because of poor reception and a desire among most residents to receive special first-run movies and sporting events.

Other advantages include meeting the special needs of the aged, having more public access through open forum and community service programs, and providing special programming to benefit the growing convention business, Tessier commented.

Tessier said that the committee discovered that about 69 per cent of Claremonters surveyed said they would be willing to pay a monthly fee and probably an additional fee for a special movie channel.

But Councilman Frank Hungerford said he doesn't feel there is overwhelming local support for cable TV.

Councilwoman Eleanor Cohen said she has been "quite disappointed" in cable TV programming.

"It was a worthwhile thing to find out that it is not feasible," said Councilwoman Claire McDonald. "I can't see anything other than shelving the report."

Tessier said that given the present financial structure of the cable TV industry, "we have no indication that any company would be interested in building a system in the city."

"Five years ago, when cable TV was previously considered, would have been the best time for the city to enter into a franchise," Tessier said.

The committee had made two recommendations:

— That the council adopt a resolution saying the city is interested in obtaining cable TV services, and any companies interested and having financial backing to provide such services should contact the city.

— The city should conduct a new study to include a survey of the citizens, technological options available, and associated costs such as the initial hookup, the monthly fee to stay on the system and fees for special services such as the movie channel.

L.A. cuts purchases with Ford over minority hiring

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city of Los Angeles has halted major purchases from the Ford Motor Co., saying the Detroit automaker does not meet the city's minority hiring standards.

But an executive at the Ford West Coast sales office in Oakland defended the firm's affirmative action program Wednesday and said Ford felt Los Angeles did not have jurisdiction over its actions in Detroit.

The situation stems from an ordinance passed by the City Council last March. The ordinance requires any firm doing business with the city of Los Angeles to meet city standards on affirmative action programs, said Stewart Feuer, an official with the city Board of Public Works in charge of nonconstruction contract compliance.

"Right now, we just can't buy Ford parts in orders over $5,000, or cars or trucks," Feuer said.

He said although local Ford dealers doing business with the city met the standards, the national company had "submitted a plan with many things missing."

In Oakland, Ford executive Donald Peters said the automaker "took the position that why should the Detroit affirmative action program affect the city of Los Angeles? Ford Motor Co. in Detroit certainly has a strong affirmative action program. It has a lot of minority workers."

Speeds fall on sections of Foothill

The speed limit on Foothill Boulevard in Upland and Cucamonga has been changed at various locations, reports the California Department of Transportation.

In Cucamonga, the limit was lowered from 50 to 45 miles per hour from just west of Hellman Avenue to about 700 feet east of the intersection.

In Upland, the speed limit changes include:

— Between Wilson Avenue and Redding Way, from 45 to 40 miles per hour; Campus Avenue and Alta Street, 45 to 40; and between Alta Street and San Bernardino Road, 45 to 50.

Patty brainwashed—expert

LONDON (AP) — Patricia Hearst was "brainwashed, forcibly converted, and coerced in thought and deed" into joining the Symbionese Liberation Army after her kidnaping, British psychiatrist William Sargant, a leading expert in terrorist brainwashing techniques, said today.

Dr. Sargant interviewed Miss Hearst at her family's request last year. He wrote in the Times of London today that after five long talks with her, he was convinced "there is not a shred of truth in any allegations that she cooperated in her kidnaping."

The 21-year-old newspaper heiress, now on trial in San Francisco on federal bank robbery charges, was kept blindfolded in a cupboard for 60 days after her capture and was subjected to threats against herself and her parents, Sargant said.

"The last war showed that around 30 days, continued day and night, was the maximum period of tension and stress a normal person could endure before breakdown," he said.

"Then increased states of suggestibility intervene and the brain goes into 'inhibitory' reverse. Patty endured induced tension for much longer than 30 days....

"My own view is that she was not really 'broken' until around the 50th day of the blindfolding, but the blindfold was only removed after 60 days. And when it was removed she had a short period of unreality and a distortion of her body image which was alarming to her in the extreme."

During the bank robbery for which she is now on trial, when Miss Hearst was photographed holding a gun, "she was so frightened that she nearly fainted," Sargant said.

"Now she was caught in the web, and the FBI became real enemies, as was shown later when fire bombs were tossed into a surrounded house in Los Angeles. The 'switchback' occurred when Patty finally got away from the two remaining SLA members and lived with a Japanese girl, Wendy (Yoshimura), who was also on the run. Wendy ... was able to disillusion Patty and to make her realize how terribly she had been deceived all along in a whole variety of ways. No remaining regard (except for Wendy) remains now for her former associates and what she now considers their mad ideas.

"She was glad to be captured finally without being shot. On my fifth and last interview with her she said that if she was ever released she would go back to her still loving parents, but not to her former life, and try to do social work."

Ervin Stanley and his dancing partner

Still whirling around the dance floor at 95

FRESNO (AP) — Ervin Stanley has to rest every so often during his twice-weekly evenings of whirling around the dance floor. After all, he's 95-years-old.

"I generally dance one or two dances and then I rest awhile," Stanley says. "It hurts my knees after awhile. If the floor is slick, I can get around pretty good. If it's sticky, I get awful tired fast."

His partners at the Gay 90s Club on Wednesday and the Friendship Club on Saturdays say Stanley is a good dancer and spry for his age.

"I like the two-step and waltzes," says Stanley, who is so eager to dance he shows up at the hall two hours early and waits in his car for the doors to open.

"Might as well be sittin' there as sittin' at home," he explains.

Stanley began attending weekly dances to stay active after his third wife died 23 years ago. His regular dancing partner is Dottie Fleeman, 85, whom he calls his "lady friend."

As a younger man, Stanley tried gold prospecting and was a Wells Fargo wagon driver in Central California before settling down as a farmer. Perhaps his active outdoor life played a part in the good health that remains with Stanley today.

"I never been in a hospital," he boasts. "Never had an operation. I got all the things I was borned with. I never get sick and I don't take medicine."

He can still read books and newspapers without glasses and recently passed his annual driving and eye test to renew his California operator's license.

"If you can't pass that test you got no business driving anyway," Stanley said.

Stanley said he lives adequately on $107.30 a month in Social Security and $172.70 in welfare because "I don't drink, smoke or gamble like a lot of them do."

But then he admits that he quit smoking only eight years ago.

Stanley is too busy living to worry about dying although he's arranged for burial near his childhood home in Tulare County.

"They will take me to Porterville and 'plant me' as they say. I bought my plot there a long time ago. My mother and father are buried there and so is one of my wives."

Tanks, big guns score casualties in Sahara war

Heavy fighting flared between Moroccan and Algerian forces in the Spanish Sahara for the third straight day today, with both sides throwing tanks and heavy artillery into the battle, military sources in Paris reported.

In Rabat, Moroccan officials said heavy casualties were reported among Algerian troops in the area of Amghala, about 175 miles southwest of the Algerian border. The officials said Moroccan forces now hold nearly 50 Algerian soldiers as prisoners. There was no indication of the number of Moroccan casualties.

Algerian President Houari Boumedienne sent messages to the chiefs of state of all Communist and nonaligned nations, accusing Morocco of military aggression "in collusion with Spain" and asking for help in securing independence for the people of the Spanish Sahara.

Under an agreement signed in Madrid last November, Spain agreed to hand over the phosphate-rich territory to Morocco and Mauritania and withdraw all its forces and administrators by Feb. 28.

Morocco said Wednesday it captured 17 more Algerian soldiers and rescued a captive Spanish officer in the Spanish Sahara.

The fighting Wednesday was also reported by an Algerian communique. Few details were given, and there was no verification from independent sources.

The Moroccan communique said 29 Algerians were captured in clashes Tuesday and Wednesday in the rocky plains of the Amghala region, near the border between the Sahara and Mauritania and about 175 miles southwest of the Algerian border.

Spotlight on area crime

Foil use of stolen credit card

Two women who attempted to use a credit card stolen in a San Bernardino armed robbery Wednesday are being sought by Montclair and San Bernardino police this morning.

Montclair police reported they received a call from the Broadway Store security office in the Montclair Plaza Wednesday afternoon after two women ran from a clerk. Security officers told police that the women attempted to purchase some merchandise on a credit card.

A computer check on the card revealed it had been stolen. The two women, both black, between 20 and 25, bolted from the store and were last seen running towards the May Co. Auto Center.

Police checking further on the card learned from San Bernardino police that earlier Wednesday two black men had robbed a man at Chief Auto Parts at 493 Orange Show Road. During the robbery the victim told police that the robbers fired a shot at him. The two robbers are believed to be in possession of a sawed-off .22 rifle and a sawed-off .30 caliber rifle.

Montclair police believe that the two women may have received the card from the men involved in the robbery.

The women were both described as 5 feet 8 to 5 feet 10, of medium build. One was wearing a short afro hair style and a pink mini-skirt the other was wearing a yellow blouse with the midriff showing.

Burglars pried open the front door of Dudley's Dress Shop at 10240 Central Ave. in MONTCLAIR early Wednesday morning and made off with numerous dresses valued over $1,000, according to police.

Police said the burglary was discovered by a store employe, Virginia Alward. Police said the burglars emptied several racks of dresses.

A young Lynwood man, arrested after a high-speed pursuit by police ended in a crash in a POMONA alley, has been turned over to South Gate police who reported that the car he allegedly was driving had been stolen there earlier.

The suspect, Linesley Dewey Parson, 21, was booked by Pomona police on suspicion of auto theft, felony drunk driving and reckless driving. He was turned over to South Gate authorities Wednesday.

The pursuit occurred early Wednesday when Pomona officers Robert Heard and Monty Edson spotted the vehicle traveling at 60 miles per hour at La Verne Avenue and Orange Grove avenues. It ended in an alley near San Bernardino Avenue at Singingwood Avenue when the driver missed a right hand turn at 50 m.p.h. and hit a parked car. The pursuing police car then ran into the rear of the car being chased.

Heard sustained a minor arm injury in the crash. Parson, accused of fleeing the scene on foot, was arrested nearby within two minutes of the accident by officers Vittorio Mancini and Steven Strauss.

Two men, one with a 7-inch knife, robbed the Shell service station at 16940 Gladstone Ave., Azusa, late Tuesday night.

The attendant, Steven D. Cruz, 18, Azusa, said the pair entered, grabbed him and one held a knife to his throat and demanded money. They left him with his hands taped and tape over his eyes.

The armed man was described as a Latin, 18 to 21, 5 feet 6 wearing blue jeans and a plaid shirt.

Closed selection of Hearst jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery, described by the judge at the start as the "most fully covered case in the country," has gone behind closed doors while the jury is picked.

A critical preliminary phase — the questioning of prospective jurors about the effects of massive publicity given Miss Hearst between her 1974 kidnaping and her arrest last Sept. 18 — is being conducted in private.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter left more than 100 reporters representing newspapers from many parts of the world outside in a corridor Wednesday as he questioned prospective jurors.

Four women were tentatively seated on the panel and three dismissed. Carter, who had hoped to seat a jury Wednesday, told attorneys he anticipates completing the selection by Friday.

Residential fires kill more than 12,000 people a year in North America.

The real pity is, so many of those lives could have been saved if the people had been alerted in time.

That is what Kwikset's new Early Warning Fire Alarm has been designed to do.

The ionization principle in the Kwikset Alarm can detect the particles of combustion smoke or flame — before most people have any idea a fire has broken out.

If fire begins when your family is asleep (most fire fatalities occur between midnight and dawn) the 355 Fire Alarm will detect the particles of combustion in the air and set off a loud piercing horn. This kind of protection for your home and family can be less than you think. Ask to see the 355 at HUNTINGTON HARDWARE.

WE HOPE YOU NEVER HAVE TO HEAR IT!

IN SEARCH OF MONSTER — Aline Harrison, left, and Sheila Lester try on their wet suits as a three-day search for the Loch Ness Monster begins in Scotland today. The girls represent the only females in a team of 23 divers from Mansfield, England, who plan to search the loch to a depth of between 150 and 200 feet.

Sacramento summaries

By The Associated Press

A Summary of Major Action

Wednesday, Jan. 28

THE GOVERNOR

Announced he would support legislation to be introduced Friday which would set up a state-run, doctor-controlled medical malpractice insurance pool.

THE ASSEMBLY

Bills Passed

Insurance — Would require employers to offer catastrophic health insurance with deductible levels at $5,000 for an individual and $7,500 for a family; AB 1881; Arnett, R-Rewood City; 41-32; to Senate; reconsideration requested.

Wetlands — Would appropriate $2.9 million for the state to buy the Madrona Marsh in Los Angeles County, Stony Lake in Sacramento and other wetlands areas; AB 2133; Keene, D-Eureka; 55-11; to Senate.

Vietnam — Would establish May 6, 1975 as the end of the Vietnam war for purposes of Cal-Vet loans and veterans' property tax exemptions; AB 1000; Lockyer, D-San Leandro; 68-0; to Senate.

Fees — Would require a $10 fee for a private streambed alteration permit; AB 2210; Z'Berg, D-Sacramento; 45-11; to Senate.

Marriage — Would add new criteria for determining child support and alimony after dissolution of a marriage, including length of the marriage and contribution of each spouse in the past to the other's education; AB 1747; Maddy, R-Fresno; 69-2; to Senate.

Bill Defeated

Coliseum — Would set the seating capacity of the Los Angeles Coliseum at 78,000 instead of the current 92,000 for purposes of televising home football games; AB 1667; V. Thomas, D-San Pedro; 37-24 (54 votes needed); reconsideration requested.

Bill Introduced

Deficiency — Would appropriate $90 million to meet deficiencies in already approved programs, including $3.8 million for the farm labor board; AB 2886; Foran, D-San Francisco.

Bill Introduced

Relocation — Would permit counties to provide "war relocation absence" as employe credit toward retirement for those who were evacuated or relocated during World War II; AB 2887; Bannai, R-Gardena.

Autos — Would require new cars of 1979 or later model years to achieve a fuel economy of at least 20 miles per gallon for both city and highway driving; AB 2888; Goggin, D-San Bernardino.

Malpractice — Would prohibit a health facility from requiring a staff member to have professional liability insurance as a condition of being on the staff; AB 2889; Chel, D-Long Beach.

Christmas — Would include Christmas trees among growing crops which are exempt from property taxation, but would declare there would be no loss of government to local government and no state reimbursement; AB 2890; Nestande, R-Anaheim.

Marijuana — Would redefine marijuana to include all products of the genus Cannabis, not only the plant Cannabis Sativa; AB 2891; Nestande, R-Anaheim.

Voting — Would require the state to reimburse counties for the cost of mailing voter pamphlets; AB 2892; Chappie, R-Roseville.

Timber — Would allow State Lands Commission to provide for harvest of timber on public lands totally surrounded by or contiguous to national or state forest at the same time surrounding or adjacent land is timbered; AB 2693; Chappie, R-Roseville.

Schools — Would provide for increases in district aid, basic aid from the state, and would increase minimum tax rates; AB 2897; Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento.

Alameda — Would exempt Makassar Straits Village in Alameda from demolition which has been prescribed; AB 2699; Miller, D-Oakland.

Resolution Introduced

Swimming — Would request Public Utilities Commission to delay implementation of its decision prohibiting gas utilities from providing service to new swimming pool heaters after April 1, 1976; ACR 146; Murphy, R-Santa Cruz.

THE SENATE

Bills Passed

Nutrition — Would create the Interdepartmental Council on Food and Nutrition in the state Department of Health and would require it to develop a comprehensive plan on food and nutrition with particular emphasis on coordination of all state food and nutrition programs; SB 966; Garcia, D-Los Angeles; 21-2; to Assembly.

Bail — Would establish a procedure permitting a person charged with an infraction or misdemeanor under the Vehicle Code who intends to forfeit bail to forward by mail a deposit of bail; SB 189; Roberti, D-Los Angeles; to Assembly.

Assault — Would reduce the maximum term of state imprisonment for assault with a deadly weapon from life to 14 years and would create a new offense of assault with a deadly weapon likely to produce great bodily injury or with intent to commit murder, would make the punishment for that offense from five years to life in prison; SB 1331; Rains, D-Ventura; 24-1; to Assembly.

Dogs — Would prohibit an officer or employe of any animal control agency from seizing and impounding a dog or issuing a citation for violation of a local dog leash law when such dog is on private property owned by the dog owner; SB 1115; Holmdahl, D-Castro Valley; 2111; to Assembly.

Redevelopment — Would require, commencing with 1977-78 fiscal year, that each redevelopment agency make property tax in lieu payments to cities, counties and districts to compensate them for tax revenues which would have been levied on property owned by the agency for two years or more if such property were not exempt from property taxation; SB 1316; Marks, R-San Francisco; 24-0; to Assembly.

Resolution Passed

Nixon — Would change the name of the Richard M. Nixon Freeway in Southern California to the Marina Freeway; SCR 59; Holden, D-Culver City; 23-5; to Assembly.

Bills Introduced

Schools — Would revise current funding system for elementary and secondary education by prescribing a guaranteed level of support for the 1976-77 fiscal year of $1,165 per student at the elementary level and $1,329 per student at the high school level; SB 1499, Smith, D-Saratoga.

U.S. tuna boats seek new areas

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Four American tuna boats will leave this spring on an 8,000-mile expedition to search for new tuna fishing grounds near Guam.

Plans for the Western Pacific expedition were announced by Living Marine Resources, which is jointly managing the trip with the Pacific Tuna Development Foundation, the tuna industry and the federal government.

The boats are expected to spend 80 days in exploratory fishing around Guam, staying in radio contact at all times.

Mansion gets okay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A City Council committee has voted in favor of accepting the $500,000 gift of a 14-room mansion from oil magnate J. Paul Getty as a memorial to his late elder son, George F. Getty II.

The Public Works Committee made its recommendation Wednesday after City Administrator C. Erwin Piper similarly asked the mansion be accepted.

The brick mansion, in the French Colonial style, is 46 years old.

Cold, impersonal system puts the wrong man in jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Los Angeles men named Ramon Flores were born the same day, closely resemble each other, have nearly identical Social Security numbers, and each has a wife and five children.

But only one of them — the wrong one — spent Christmas and New Years in jail.

The wrong Flores, 36, a factory worker, was at home napping last Dec. 19 when police knocked on the front door of his modest apartment. Told he was wanted in connection with the death of a 17-year-old boy in Fresno, he was read his rights, handcuffed and led away just as his wife and children, aged 2 to 12, were returning from a church function.

Flores told investigators he had never been to Fresno and that on the day of the killing he was at work and his employers could prove it.

Police said if he was telling the truth he'd be out in a few days.

But they picked up Flores, impounded his car, and took him to Fresno on Dec. 22. He was arraigned Christmas Eve and a public defender was appointed. A preliminary hearing was not scheduled until Jan. 7 and his own attorney did not even interview Flores in depth until New Year's Eve.

On Jan. 6, the day before the preliminary hearing, police finally compared Flores' fingerprints with the suspect's. The next day authorities ashamedly admitted their error. There was no official explanation for the delay.

After 19 days in jail, one Ramon Flores was free, the other still at large.

"I think sometimes they are always trying too hard to find the man," said Flores in halting English. Although born here, he lived in Tijuana for years, and Spanish is his first language.

He pointed to his wife Maria and said, "She passed Christmas Day crying, she says, and reading the Bible I bought for her for Christmas." Relatives lent her money to live on while her husband was in jail.

Fresno Deputy Public Defender Edward Sarkisian said he didn't interview Flores immediately because of the holidays and his tight schedule. But, "When I interviewed the guy, I was convinced he was innocent right away. He was such a quiet, mild-mannered fellow. A gentleman with a capital G," he said.

He said he called the district attorney's office on Jan. 2 and told them "in my heart I thought we had the wrong guy."

Positive identification of Flores as "the wrong guy" could have been made by his family who had his work records and a commendation letter from his employer, said Sarkisian, but relatives insisted on bringing the documents personally and didn't get to Fresno until Jan. 5. They said they had trouble getting plane reservations in the holiday rush.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Steve Noxon splits the blame between Sarkisian, for not informing his office of his concerns sooner, and the Los Angeles Police Department.

"It's such a cold, impersonal system," said Noxon. "I mean, all we got up here was the suspect. LAPD didn't even send us a followup report of any kind. No details on the circumstances of the arrest, nothing saying the guy claimed to be innocent. Nothing."

LAPD Cmdr. Pete Hagan said the department simply followed normal procedures.

"It wasn't our investigation," he said. "We had no facts, just the name and vital statistics. We did them a courtesy. We followed the orders on the warrant."

Fresno County sheriff's Lt. Richard Pierce said he believed the Flores they were seeking has vanished.

"He could be anywhere," he said.

That Flores is accused of fatally shooting 17-year-old Rafael Cuerva Gonzales in Fresno last July.

The boy was the brother of a man with whom Flores was having an argument over a woman, Pierce said. The man, Ramiro Gonzales, 28, was wounded in the side with a .38 caliber bullet, but the boy died of his wounds.

Pierce said the Flores they want is an uncanny match for the wrong Flores in nearly every way.

Just so the same mistake doesn't happen again, deputies said, the Flores file now includes a picture of Ramon Flores of Los Angeles, the man not to arrest.

Critics hit phone co. attempt to charge for information calls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Critics of Pacific Telephone Co's effort to charge the public for information calls claim the utility's campaign about the cost of assistance dialing is something less than is claimed.

Most of the opposition, at a state Public Utilities Commission hearing, came from Bernie Chiaravalle, president of the Communications Workers of America, who said:

"It really costs each subscriber only five cents per month on his bill to pay for this entire (information) service."

He charged that the utility's claim that directory assistance calls throughout the nation cost $55 million annually was designed to condition Americans to accepting a charge for the calls.

Pacific Telephone made no formal response to Chiaravalle's charges, but a utility spokesman denied the allegation, saying that since 50 per cent of information calls come from 12 per cent of customers, the average phone bill would be reduced by 40 cents a month if there were an information charge.

Pacific Telephone is asking the PUC approval to charge 20 cents per information call, with the first three calls free to subscribers. The request is part of an application for a $119 million rate hike.

Consumer advocate Sylvia Siegel said, "Operators have now been instructed to avoid giving callers help even in emergencies." She said it was part of "a deliberate $33.5 million reduction" in phone company services since last June.

PUC commissioner Leonard Ross told phone company lawyer Milton Morris he was disturbed about automatic recordings used for information callers and asked Morris to find out exactly what instructions operators have for dealing with people in emergencies.

The PUC said hearings on the rate increase request will be held March 9 in San Diego, followed by sessions at Anaheim March 10; Van Nuys March 11; Paso Robles March 22; San Jose March 23; Modesto March 24, and Santa Rosa March 25.

Man who lived frugally leaves $1 million to charity

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The old man lived frugally, specifying that he be buried in his pajamas in the cheapest casket available, with no flowers, music or mourners at his funeral.

But when Allen W. T. Davis died last Thursday at 94 in the 14th-floor hotel room where he had lived since 1927, he left about $1 million to charities in three states.

"He was one of a kind. He was absolutely niggardly about spending money on himself," said his stockbroker, Dick Wasson.

It was through stocks that Davis accumulated his fortune, parlaying a $4,000 inheritance in 1942 into his portfolio.

A minor part of the estate was left to eight friends, with the rest to be divided equally among the Kentucky Lions Eye Foundation in Louisville, the Mid-South Lions Sight Service in Memphis, the Birmingham Eye Foundation and Goodwill Industries here.

Executors said it will be some time before the exact amount of the estate is known because the money is tied up in a number of stocks.

Davis originally was from near Lexington, Ky., where his father was a wheat dealer. He attended Birmingham Medical College in the early 1900s but dropped out because of poor health. Later he did a variety of things, including the selling of pharmaceuticals in Michigan and working in the hearing aid business in New York City.

He and his wife, from whom he was divorced many years ago, had no children.

Wasson said Davis was "superintelligent, a professional trader."

The assistant manager of the restaurant in the building where Davis lived, Glendolyn Wilson, made sure he got his meals. Once, she said, Davis fell and suffered a carpet burn on his leg. She went to check on him and asked if she could borrow a few dollars. He promptly handed it over but took the money back when he realized she was going to use it to get medicine for him.

"He washed his own clothes," Mrs. Wilson said. He recently gave her two silver spoons and told her never to lose them.

"He would deny himself not to run up a bill," his doctor said.

Davis ate lightly, mostly boiled eggs and grits, but drank large quantities of a special concoction of whisky and honey with a touch of lemon juice.

His doctor said Davis had some trouble hearing but none with his eyesight, and no one could say why he picked eye foundations as his beneficiaries.

Davis kept a sign on his door which read: "If you haven't called me from the lobby, don't knock on this door."

IRRIGATION STARTS EARLY — Max Baloca watches irrigation water move over newly-planted lettuce field in California's Salinas Valley. The worst dry spell in more than 100 years has forced ranchers in the valley — known as the world's salad bowl — to begin irrigating their fields four months earlier than in normal rainfall years.

'Killer drug' of 30s and 40s

Marijuana put in new perspective

NEW YORK (AP) — Marijuana, the "killer drug" of the 1930s and 1940s, is being exonerated from the more extreme charges made against it.

New evidence, based on studies of heavy, chronic use in Costa Rica and Jamaica, fails to show any signs of brain damage or other significant differences between users and non-users.

In the 1930s and 1940s there were fears that the drug would cause brain damage and it was associated with insanity and murderous conduct. Now a panel of scientists says new research shows that's not so.

"The evidence is fairly clear that chronic cannabis use is not accompanied by the things written in the medical literature in the 1930s and 1940s ... and reemphasized in recent literature," said Dr. Max Fink of the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Fink was one of a number of scientists who spoke to news reporters Tuesday during a New York Academy of Sciences Conference on Chronic Cannabis Use. The meeting was sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse and New York Medical College.

One of the panelists, Dr. Thomas E. Bryant, president of the private Drug Abuse Council in Washington, said the evidence so far is enough to support decriminalization of marijuana.

Dr. Alfred M. Freedman of New York Medical College said, however, that "social policy is regrettably not based on scientific evidence ... It is based on many social considerations and harm is one of the least of these."

Dr. Rhea L. Dornbush of New York Medical College cautioned against overemphasizing the current controversy over whether marijuana use lowers blood levels of the male sex hormone testosterone. Whether it does will not be known for sure until more research is done, she said. There have been conflicting reports.

While the Costa Rica study, done by University of Florida researchers, and the Jamaica work, cannot be directly comparable to the population of the United States, Dr. Dornbush said the results constitute the best available data and added:

"I don't think our typical user will ever consume marijuana in the quantities of users in these countries."

Dr. Jared R. Tinklenberg of Stanford University, who reported a study showing that marijuana did not have the socially disruptive effects that alcohol did in a group of adolescent delinquent boys, said of marijuana use:

"The liklihood of having brain damage in the American population is remote."

Nevada still nuptial mecca

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada may no longer be the nation's divorce capital. But the state is easily holding on to its title as marriage mecca of America.

Figures from state and local government agencies show that in 1975 Nevada continued to draw the marriage-minded from other states with its liberal regulations and 24-hour wedding industry.

Nevada's the only state with no blood test requirement. There is no mandatory waiting period or out-of-the-ordinary age requirement.

The tentative figures for 1975 show there were about 100,000 marriages and about 10,000 divorces and annulments. The 101 ratio of weddings to marriage split-ups has been the pattern here since about 1970.

The national average is about one divorce for every two marriages. Nevada had such a ratio immediately after World War II when it got a reputation as headquarters for people whose marriages were on the rocks.

The latest figures for Nevada are similar to 1974 data which showed there are just over 10 marriages nationally for every 1,000 people, while in Nevada there are more than 170 marriages per 1,000 people.

The 1974 figures also showed that nationally there are about four divorces for every 1,000 people while Nevada has just over 17 divorces for every 1,000 residents.

Nevada's marriage and divorce rates drive statisticians up the wall. The state has such a low population — less than 600,000 — that an influx of people from more populous states such as neighboring California causes drastic fluctuations in any per capita figuring.

But Jack Homeyer, chief of the state's Vital Statistics Bureau, says the Nevada figures still prove clearly that the state is "a marriage mecca and not really a divorce mecca anymore.

"The divorce laws in other states like California are so much more lenient now than they were a few years ago. So why should someone go to all the expense of setting up residency in Nevada?"

There's still a six-week residency rule for persons getting divorces, and lawyers in the state usually handle paperwork.

In California, persons getting divorced can file their own papers with courts, "and do the whole thing for less than $50," says Virginia Gazaway, manager of the Chapel of the Bells, a local wedding chapel.

She loses life savings to con man

CHICAGO (AP) — An elderly woman who took her life savings of $11,000 to her native Poland to try to get her son out of prison has returned to Chicago alone and penniless.

Mrs. Stanislawa Jelinski, 67, told police who met her recently at O'Hare International Airport that she had given the money to a man who was to help her son. She refused to give details of the transaction.

She said her 34-year-old son is serving a 10-year sentence on charges of embezzlement and theft and that she was allowed to visit him only 25 minutes a day.

Policemen Frank Riggio and Ralph Vucko met Mrs. Jelinski. They had befriended her earlier when a thief stole her purse containing the $11,000 which she had saved by scrubbing floors the last 10 years. The thief threw away the purse, overlooking the cash which was in a paper bag, and the money was returned.

Mrs. Jelinski, carrying the money with her, flew to Poland last month despite efforts by police and other organizations to dissuade her.

A man implicated in the $1.1 million burglary of a Montclair business last year failed to appear for sentencing in West Valley Superior Court Wednesday and a bench warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Judge Clifton L. Allen Wednesday issued the arrest warrant after Wiliam F. Schuyler failed to appear in the courtroom for sentencing on one count of possession of stolen property.

Schuyler pleaded guilty to the charge two weeks ago in West Valley Municipal Court. He was released on bail bond of $2,000 and was ordered to appear Wednesday for sentencing in Superior Court. The bond will be forfeited.

Schuyler, formerly of Montclair, was arrested by West End sheriff's detectives investigating the burglary of Ross Engineering Co. in the county area near Montclair. More than $1.1 million in negotiable municipal bonds and trust deeds were taken in the safe burglary.

Detectives said that Schuyler was arrested in Vancouver, Wash., after attempting to use a stolen credit card. The credit card was taken from the safe.

Detectives followed Schuyler to Winnamucka, Nev., where he allegedly gave the stolen bonds to two men who attempted to use them as collateral for a loan, and then to a warehouse in Boise, Idaho where more than $9,000 in stolen goods was found. The stolen goods were taken in numerous burglaries in the Montclair area over several years.

Brown to speak in Claremont

Some 500 persons are expected to hear Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. Friday night when he speaks at a testimonial dinner in Claremont for Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist.

The $100-a-plate dinner will be held at Griswold's Restaurant, Claremont. The program will start with a cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 8.

Other legislators expected to attend the dinner are Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., state Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-32nd Dist., and Assemblymen Tom Suitt, Walter Ingalls and Larry Chimbole.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used in McVittie's re-election campaign.

McVittie said he was honored that Brown was taking time from his busy schedule to appear here on his behalf.

BLOOD DONORS

Steven East, Pomona High School senior, gives blood in first bloodmobile on a local high school campus. Mrs. Mary Jane Noochie, attends the student while Sid Moses, acting superintendent of Pomona schools who was first donor, watches the process.

Red Cross moves into a new donor group: high schoolers

The Pomona Unified School District is now cooperating with the Pomona Red Cross in providing much-needed blood in the community through a new recruitment program on the high school campuses.

Under a state law passed last year, 17-year-olds may donate blood with a signed parental consent form.

The first bloodmobile to be held on a local high school campus was conducted this week at Pomona High School. Similar blood donor programs have operated on college campuses for many years.

Mrs. Williamina Green, Pomona Chapter Red Cross chairman of the Young Donor Program; Sid Moses, acting superintendent of the Pomona Unified School District; and the Pomona school board coordinated the program. Bloodmobiles are also scheduled on the Ganesha and Garey campuses.

A trophy will be awarded to the school that draws the most pints of blood. The trophy will be rotated among the winning schools each year.

Among the first donors at Pomona High School were Moses; Don Donnelly, president of the school board; and Diane Rusler, PHS senior class president.

Mike Phillips, director of student activities, was in charge of recruitment at PHS.

Phil Kauble, director of student activities, is managing the mobile at Ganesha High School on Feb. 17 and Dean Holcomb, director of student activities at Garey High School, is heading recruitment for their blood drive on Feb. 23.

Mrs. Green, Emergency School Aid Act — Basic Project director for the school district, said the Pomona Community Blood Donor quota this year is 7,500 units and that every fifth blood transfusion is given to a person under 18.

Ticket sales, parking fees paid for Freedom Train visit

Ticket sales and parking fees collected during the visit of the American Freedom Train to the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in late December were sufficient to pay for the exhibition, the local committee in charge has reported.

Clem Neibel, chairman of the local Freedom Train Committee, which coordinated the exhibition, told the Pomona City Council that more than 75,000 persons toured the train and that the committee collected $41,022 in fees and commissions.

The City Council had underwritten the committee's expenses, the most notable of which was a $24,000 bill for construction of a temporary railroad spur into the fairground's north parking lot.

Total expenditures by the committee totaled some $39,462, not counting approximately $4,069 in city services for police security, trash collection and printing — which the committee was not able to repay fully.

"We appreciate the faith you exhibited in your endorsement of the project, and I'm happy to report the project has paid for itself," Neibel told the council.

The committee received a 10 per cent commission on 75,177 paid admissions, which totaled $121,913, plus 100 per cent of parking fees, which totaled $25,257. The committee also received a percentage of concession sales.

Neibel estimated that up to another 25,000 persons came to see the train but did not purchase a ticket to tour it.

"Although some people had to wait in line two and three hours to board the train, we had very few complaints," said Neibel.

Neibel estimated that the Freedom Train visit to Pomona generated at least $750,000 in business activity locally.

Neibel thanked the dozens of Freedom Train Committee members who worked on the project.

Planners move with caution on law to clean up properties

The Pomona Planning Commission Wednesday night held over for further study a proposed ordinance designed to help guarantee continued maintenance of private properties and buildings.

Officials said they wanted to develop for the ordinance a provision whereby property owners cited for violations could file an appeal with the commission.

The proposed ordinance, first discussed by planners at their Jan. 5 meeting, seeks to require that buildings or land are maintained in a condition not detrimental to the property of others and doesn't reduce the value of neighboring properties.

Included in the provisions are the removal of lumber, junk, debris or salvaged materials, discarded or unused furniture, construction equipment, and weeds or overgrown vegetation seen from a street.

One section involves the maintenance of structures, walls, fences or landscaping in need of correction or repair. This would include broken windows, surfaces in need of repainting, physical damage or general dilapidation.

This brought a response from planner Max Pyle who said he didn't want the ordinance to get "out of hand" where the city would dictate to residents on "what color to paint your doors."

Planner Priscilla Hurt discussed the possibility of an overzealous person who would make the property maintenance a crusade.

In response, City Planner Sanford Sorensen said the city staff's recommendation would be for the Planning Commission to become a board of review in cases of improper application of the ordinance.

Regarding a clean-up program, Sorensen said that perhaps the city could focus on one area at a time. As an example, he suggested that perhaps it be publicized that inspectors would be looking for disabled cars in front yards. Residents could be asked to get rid of them or be cited, he added.

During a public hearing, Vic Tessier, who owns apartment houses in Pomona, suggested a time limit to be set for violations. He noted that potential renters had to pass several burned garages to get to his apartment houses.

"We are forced to buy the property with the burned out building. When escrow clears, we will be able to tear down the structure," he added.

2nd vote on valley water plan delayed

A proposed $35 million bond election, tentatively scheduled for June, has been postponed by the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District.

William C. Leech, president of the district, said board members want more time to fully acquaint the community with the need for the proposed distribution system that would bring Northern California water to the valley.

The proposal was defeated by voters last November, and PVMWD officials said the issue lost because voters did not understand it.

The decision to wait came after the board consulted with managers of nine local water utilities, and Leech said "all of us felt that by trying to go again in June we would have to rush our study. If there is one thing we have learned, it is that this project is important enough to the community to take the time to share our studies with the citizens."

Valley briefs

Superior Court gets new judge

A former judge in West Covina's Citrus Municipal Court has been promoted and assigned to the Pomona Superior Court, Presiding Judge Robert A. Wenke has announced in Los Angeles.

He is Sam Cianchetti who was sworn in earlier this week as a Superior Court judge along with Howard Thelin. Thelin has been on the bench of the Los Angeles Municipal Court.

Cianchetti, who has a law degree from USC, has been a deputy public defender and was in private practice before being appointed a Municipal Court judge. He, his wife, Marilyn, and their two sons reside in West Covina.

Cianchetti's assignment brings to seven the number of judges assigned to the Pomona court. He began work Tuesday in a criminal court.

Walnut joins crime project

Participation in the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department burglary prevention project was approved by the Walnut City Council Wednesday night.

Walnut may become part of the sixth group of cities in Los Angeles County to participate in the project. Other cities in the valley also are being asked to approve it.

The Sheriff's Department and the City of West Covina are working out details for this general area, Mayor William Wentworth said today.

Cost to Walnut will be $350 as 95 per cent of the program is to be funded by the state and federal governments.

Councilmen also approved plans and specifications for baseball field lights at Suzanne Park.

Upland cyclist is injured

An Upland man suffered minor injuries Wednesday when his motorcycle struck a 2 by 4-inch board on the San Bernardino Freeway near Mills Avenue in Montclair.

Bradley Dixon, 18, of 1436 W. Eighth St., was treated at Doctors Hospital in Montclair for abrasions to both hands. He was later released.

Dixon was traveling west at about 70 miles an hour when his cycle struck the four-foot long board in one of the middle travel lanes, said highway patrolmen.

The motorcycle went out of control and overturned. Dixon told investigators his helmet had been vibrating and impaired his vision.

Scouts offer breakfast

Boy Scout Troop 410 will sponsor a pancake breakfast Saturday morning at Claremont Methodist Church, 211 W. Foothill Blvd.

Donations of $1.25 per person will be asked.

The menu will include pancakes, sausage, orange drink and coffee.

Kent Swanson, senior patrol leader, said public support is invited.

S.B. County to review data-process system

Is San Bernardino County getting the most from its data-processing program?

County Supervisor Robert Townsend wants a task force formed to determine the program's overall status, adequacy and cost effectiveness. Other supervisors have agreed to the proposal.

The Chino legislator said the county shouldn't be anxious to make an drastic changes in the service until officials have a better understanding of the current status and long-range objectives.

Among the concerns to be considered by the task force are:

— The effectiveness of long-range goals and the extent to which the systems under design will meet the forecasted needs of the county in a cost effective manner.

— The adequacy of the county's present procedures for planning, reviewing, priortizing and implementing future software development.

— The cost effectiveness of the current data processing operation.

— The adequacy of procedures and criteria used as guidelines for operation and development.

— The possible separation of data processing systems from the program development agency as suggested in a Grand Jury report.

In urging a task force be created, Townsend said it would not necessarily develop a totally acceptable plan but rather develop a plan of action for the Board of Supervisors.

He urged the task force include Howard Littlefield, administrator for the program development agency; Robert Herbin, county assessor; Roy Hill, superintendent of schools; Joel Hauser, chief of the management information systems division; and two members of the business community.

Townsend said supervisors established a data processing users committee in 1974 to work with the program development agency in determining the program's needed improvements.

Not all user departments utilized the customer report forms and the program wasn't as effective as intended, he added.

"During this past year, we have undertaken the most strenuous fiscal review in our county's history. As we have evaluated nearly every aspect of our operation, it would appear that the most substantial improvements could be achieved through better cost effectiveness and service by data processing," said Townsend.

Alta Lomans will attend Chino session on fundamental school

Backers of a fundamental school in Alta Loma will journey south to Chino Tuesday night to hear a framer of Pasadena's controversial fundamental school address Chino school officials and the public.

Henry Meyers, Pasadena school board president, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Chino District's main office.

Meyers is a proponent of fundamental schools emphasizing discipline, patriotism, strict dress codes and basic reading and math courses. He helped initiate the first such school in Pasadena.

Backers of such a school have approached board members in both Alta Loma Elementary and Chino school districts.

Alta Loma proponents two weeks ago presented a formal request to that board asking that one of the district's four schools be converted to a fundamental school.

Between 150 and 300 pro-fundamental school residents are expected to attend Monday night's Alta Loma board meeting hopefully to hear a preliminary report on that plan.

In Chino, trustees Tuesday night ordered a district-wide survey to determine the feasibility of such a program there after board member Lyle Briggs requested it. Trustee Pete VanderPoel said at that meeting he was not impressed with the concept.

No school district within San Bernardino County now operates as a fundamental school, according to a recent survey.

Alta Loma backers met at Cucamonga Library Wednesday night to discuss final plans to pack Monday's board meeting in Alta Loma.

Folly of voting with your feet

The most cogent arguments in favor of Ronald Reagan's plan to shift certain responsibilities from the federal government to the states are being made not by Mr. Reagan but by his supporters, as well as by others one would not ordinarily place in his camp.

Even the New York Times, which is not exactly known as a champion of the conservative philosophy, has praised Reagan for initiating a national dialogue on an issue that very much needs discussion.

The presidential candidate himself, however, continues to show a propensity for sticking his foot in his mouth at every opportunity.

Asked in New Hampshire what would happen if a state did not assume the social programs now so heavily underwritten by Washington, he replied that anyone unhappy with the way his state is managed can "vote with your feet . . . you can pack up and can move."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the once and quite possibly future Democratic presidential nominee, has jumped on this remark, calling it "the most callous, brutal political statement I've heard in the 20th century."

One shot from the hip deserves another, perhaps, but certainly Reagan does himself no good by dropping ill-considered quips in response to questions that really demand thoughtful answers.

Indeed, this question goes to the heart of his proposal. What WOULD happen if a state decided not to, or was unable to, assume the obligations transferred to it by the federal government?

It is true, of course, that what we call the "federal dollar" is only money that the federal government takes from the taxpayers of the several states; that there is a certain amount of waste involved in shipping this money to Washington and back again, and that the richer states receive less in federal grants than they pay out in taxes.

But it is also true that the poorer states, and some not so poor, have benefitted greatly from this arrangement. New Hampshire, for example, which was probably the worst place Reagan could have broached his plan in, has one of the lightest state tax burdens.

New Hampshirites would not have to be "callous" to shrink from imposing state sales and income taxes on themselves, which they are now happily without, notwithstanding the fact that their federal taxes presumably would be reduced commensurately.

As for "voting with your feet," this is already a source of the ills plaguing many of our cities. A large part of the financial plight of New York City is attributed to its liberal welfare system, which has been a magnet drawing tens of thousands of people from other states.

It is also debatable whether state governments are notably more efficient than the federal government; or more attuned to and responsive to the needs of their citizens.

In many states there has long been a sort of undeclared war between the cities and rural-dominated legislatures. New York City, and the state it's in, is again a prime example.

And even if the states were to prove willing to continue programs shifted to them by the federal government, some of them simply do not have the resources to do so.

There is much about Reagan's plan, as well as his person and his philosophy, that appeals, especially in this Bicentennial year when we are reminded of the self-reliant qualities of our forebears.

But this is, after all, one country, not the collection of sovereign, rival entities it was 200 years ago in a far simpler time — a country, moreover, whose federal government was established "to promote the general welfare" of the people of all the states.

Demographic myths

Dear Editor:

For the past eight months I have spent numerous hours, days and even weeks studying all the available objective information having a bearing upon the proposed closure of Sycamore Elementary School. My findings have been made available to the board of education, the superintendent, and the general public. Virtually all of this analysis has been based upon public information available upon request from the school district.

What continues to distress me is the persistent misunderstanding of some of the basic objective facts bearing on the school closure issue. Specifically, allow me to dispell three continuing popular demographic myths:

Myth No. 1: Elementary enrollment in the Claremont schools can be expected to continue to decline in the near future.

The best projections available, both from Superintendent Kirkendall and the Citizens for Quality Education, indicate that elementary enrollments in Claremont can be expected to bottom out this year or next, virtually at current levels, and proceed upward in subsequent years. Such information has been available to board members for some time.

Myth No. 2: The Sycamore site is hopelessly underutilized.

Latest available enrollment figures show that Sycamore has 290 students. There are 13 available classrooms at Sycamore. Allowing for one to be used as an educational resource room (i.e., the current library), as is current policy throughout the district, and one to be used for the EMR program housed at Sycamore, there are only 11 net available classrooms. Loading these available rooms at the legal maximum average of 28.5 gives Sycamore a capacity utilization rate of 93 per cent — well above the District average rate of 89 per cent. Of all the elementary sites, only Condit has a more intensively used physical plant. (Oakmont has an equally intensively used plant.)

Myth No. 2: The neighborhoods south of Foothill are old and contain few children. Although new residential construction can fill the northern schools, enrollment in the south will continue to decline as families age.

There is no more widespread demographic myth than this one! It is the product of a faulty mental model that makes no allowance for housing turnover and has everyone aging in place as original owners in static neighborhoods. The school district has accurate north-south enrollment figures for each of the past five years and these data are suggestive of a different story, if someone had only bothered to look at them.

Examination of the distribution of students by elementary grade in the north and south leads one to some interesting conclusions. In recent years, kindergarten enrollment in the south has turned sharply higher. Presently, kindergarten enrollment in the south is higher and increasing faster than in the north. For each of the past five years kindergarten enrollment in the south has exceeded that in the north. During the last two years, Kindergarten enrollment in the south has increased by 23 per cent, while those in the north have increased by only 7 per cent.

Furthermore, the distribution of students by age in the north is much more skewed than in the south. Enrollments by grade in the north drop steadily going from higher to lower grades. Sixth grade enrollment (292) in the north is 79 per cent higher than Kindergarten enrollment (163) in the north. On the other hand, the age distribution pattern in the south is U-shaped with enrollments virtually the same for sixth grade and Kindergarten and lowest (24 per cent lower than K or 6) in the second grade. These radically different age distributions have significant implications for enrollment projections based upon cohort progression through school. Ignoring the impact of new residential construction for the moment, as older age cohorts graduate in the north they will be replaced by substantially smaller numbers of entering Kindergarteners if the current trend continues. This will not be the case in the south where entering and exiting age cohorts are of comparable size. Thus, if one were to take Dr. Kirkendall's base enrollment projections (the base figures which make no allowance for unusual new residential construction) and recalculate them, disaggregating according to north and south Claremont, one would find virtually static enrollment projections for the south and most of the enrollment decline taking place in the north. (It is difficult for me to believe that the School District was not aware of these important differences.)

Thus, the data suggests that enrollment in the south has bottomed. Age cohorts 23 per cent larger than those experienced two years ago have entered Kindergarten for the past two years. These larger groups of children are a result of ongoing housing turnover in the older neighborhoods south of Foothill. A similar degree of turnover is not evident in the statistics for the incoming age cohorts in the north. But in the north new residential construction can be counted on to reverse the waning enrollment and maintain capacity utilization.

To me it seems obvious that Dr. Kirkendall's recommendation of further study and planning should have been heeded. I can only speculate as to why it was not. Be that as it may, I hope that we do not continue to hear any more concerning these foolish demographic myths. As a teacher of economics and statistics at Pomona College, I realize that controversies such as this one cannot be decided on objective statistical evidence alone. However, close attention to existing objective evidence can save us from making ridiculous statements and unwise decisions — John L. Jurewitz, Claremont

Consumer bill a hard sell

WASHINGTON — House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, the fair but firm arbiter of the Nixon impeachment hearing, has been less heroic in championing the consumers.

Two years ago, he called boldly for a multi-billion-dollar consumer bill. It was urgently needed, he declared in a House speech, to control "skyrocketing food prices, energy crises . . . and powerful oil companies."

Yet after the echo of his brave words had faded, he dilly-dallied and shilly-shallied while business tycoons systematically sabotaged the bill.

The measure would encourage states to sue giant corporations for antitrust violations and award billions in damages to the public. It had the enthusiastic support of the attorneys general from 39 states.

But the bill was held up unavoidably by the impeachment hearings. Then Rodino selected as his new chief counsel Earl Dudley, an able, intense man with little anitrust experience.

There is evidence that Dudley worked against the bill behind the scenes. Nevertheless, it was approved overwhelmingly by a subcommittee and scheduled for quick ratification by the full Judiciary Committee last June.

But something funny happened to the bill on the way to the full committee. One of the nation's most powerful lobbies, the Business Roundtable, suddenly awoke to the importance of the bill.

The Roundtable is made up of about 160 of the country's largest companies, which operate facilities in almost every congressional district. Such industrial giants as Bristol-Myers, Continental Can, Exxon, General Motors, Ford and Kennecott Copper were mobilized against the bill.

The lobbyist's hand is quicker than the public's eye. So what happened next was too fast for the public to follow. But the Business Roundtable quietly assigned its able lobbyist, Arnold Lerman, to build a backfire against the bill.

He was a shrewd choice. For Lerman happened to be a former law associate of committee counsel Dudley. They had worked together on corporate cases six years earlier.

We have established that Lerman quietly warned Dudley the legislation was "a bad idea." Lerman also brought business tycoons to Capitol Hill to whisper in the backroom against the bill.

The pressure had its effect upon Rodino. On the day before his Judiciary Committee was supposed to meet on the bill, he summoned the subcommittee members to the Speaker's dining room for a surprise "briefing."

This neatly got around the House rules against secrecy. The legislative sessions are supposed to be open to the public, so Rodino pretended the meeting was an informal "briefing."

According to several who were present, Rodino quickly got down to legislative business. His enthusiasm for the bill, it became clear, was wavering. He said that industry "pressures have been tremendous." He "would need everyone's support," he pleaded, before he could take the bill to the House floor.

This brought open grumbling from the bill's backers, particularly Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., and Ed Mezvinsky, D-Iowa. Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, who had joined Rodino in sponsoring the bill, gamely tried to keep the bill alive but agreed to "unload" some provisions.

As a result, the full committee meeting was put off, and the subcommittee took more time to prepare a revised bill. The delay gave the business lobbyists time to regroup.

When the full committee finally met in late July, Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., a suave, conservative lawyer, managed to water down the revised version.

But at least a tough report was written for presentation to the House Rules Committee. In fact, it was too tough to suit Dudley who privately chopped the report in half and seriously weakened it.

Seiberling managed to retrieve the report and strengthen it. This took until September. Then Rodino delayed until November before making his presentation to the Rules Committee.

It was nothing like his passionate appeal of two years earlier. Even a friend acknowledged that Rodino's performance was lackadaisacal, that he was "disastrously uninformed."

The business tycoons, meanwhile, shifted their attention to the Rules Committee. Under pressure from the big boys, the committee quietly caved in and tabled the bill.

Now Rodino has heard from the consumers, and he has made gestures to Speaker Carl Albert to revive the bill. But for the moment the bill is gathering dust in a cubbyhole.

Footnote: Rodino insisted at length that he still is committed to the bill and that the delays were not intended to give the Business Roundtable more time to sabotage it. He defended Dudley, who told us he wasn't influenced by his friend Lerman. The triumphant Lerman told us: "I think the committee did a public service in slowing the bill down."

Just in jest

On my aching back! At any given moment, according to medical reports, there are 6.5 million of them in the U.S.A. And if you want to know the real reason why there are so many, think this over. Next to a whiplash an aching back is perhaps the best excuse there is for collecting damages or at least getting time off from the job with pay. —No doctor can tell for sure whether you have one or not.

Do doctors let people die?

Since the Karen Quinlan case refocused world attention on "the right to die," the question has been debated by everyone — except doctors.

Doctors know more about this subject than anybody, yet there is one thing they know but don't want to say: Yes, of course, they do — let people die.

For generations doctors have compromised with death. However the Hippocratic oath may be interpreted literally, doctors throughout history have allowed irreversible illness to end itself.

Now the responsibility is complicated by the availability of machines that can breathe for you, tubes that can eat for you, wires that can keep your disabled heart beating; you can be in a coma and in pain, without a functioning liver, lungs, kidneys or brain — and go on living.

A maternity hospital has machines to rescue brain-damaged babies, ensuring for them years in a respirator and for their families anguish, expense and problems.

Families of young victims of cystic fibrosis suffer an 85 per cent divorce rate and a 15 per cent suicide rate. So doctors make life-and-death judgments every day.

Even the Roman Catholic concept of natural law looks the other way; generally the Catholic Church does not hold that human life must be supported by extraordinary means.

In any consideration of a legal allowance to protect the doctor's discretion, this becomes the valid question:

If we legitimatize "pulling the plug," then whom do we allow to play God? As is, the doctor is likely to consult with the family.

Dr. Paul Patterson, a pediatrician, says he may ask a parent for permission to do what he, the doctor, thinks best — to administer additional therapy or to withdraw it as necessary.

"Most," he says, "are glad to delegate the decision." The limelighted Quinlan case forced a procession of medical witnesses publicly to pontificate about their "ethical and legal responsibilities."

Yet from London, Dr. Miriam Stoppard "confessed" ending a hospitalized patient's life by switching off the life-support equipment. She says, "The consensus of the many experts who visited the ward was that he was medically dead, but nobody was prepared to turn off the machines." So she did.

She says, "It is something doctors do every day of the week." Dr. Patterson again: "I do not believe in active euthanasia, but we have let some people continue to receive therapy when we should have let nature take its course. The patient suffers, the family suffers; everyone forgets about the family."

And about the doctor. Dr. Patterson's office in Albany's New York Medical Center has a bolt lock on the inside of the door; doctors cry, too.

Think on these things

Let's face it. All of us have a streak of anger in us. And if you're feeling repentent and gentle at the moment you may be saying, "Oh, not me . . . I seldom ever have a bad thought." And on the other hand, maybe you've forgotten, or maybe that wasn't anger but righteous indignation.

The one to be reckoned with is that fairly passive person whose nature it is to let things pass and pass and pass until one day the lid comes off. It may be a simple, flat, statement on facts, but you can put stock in it for it is not an idle thought, but an absolute intention. To think it no longer means anything after the soup has cooled is an illusion. One of the best pieces of advice to anyone comes from poet John Dryden, "Beware the fury of a patient man."

Ann Landers

Here's hairy story for day

Dear Ann Landers: I have a word for "Elmer's Wife," who wanted to change husbands with the lady from Schenectady because Elmer had only six hairs on his chest while Mrs. Schenectady's husband looked like a gorilla at bedtime.

If Elmer's wife nags him into getting a chest hair transplant she should be hanged. It would be expensive, painful and time-consuming. Please tell her Elmer can buy a "chest wig" at almost any hair supply house.

They are not expensive and they really do the job. A friend of mine bought one for her husband as a joke and now he wears it to work. (He's a construction supervisor.)

The chest wig can be obtained in any color — blonde, red, dark brown or black. He can have his choice — curly hair or straight, long or short. The thing is applied with an adhesive back and guaranteed to stay on underwater. Elmer could take a shower in it, or even go swimming in rough waters.

My friend says that crazy thing has improved their sex life so much she wouldn't part with it for a million dollars. Please print my letter. Thanks, Ann. — Lending A Hand

Dear Hand: Well, you've provided me with my hairy story for the day. And I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a young man in our office became very ill at work. He was taken to the hospital and died within four hours of a heart attack. Everyone was shocked, because he was so young and appeared to be in excellent health.

My boss asked me to clean out his desk drawers and locker and take his personal belongings home to his wife.

The desk items were few and of no value. Then I was given a master key to open his locker. I found the usual — an umbrella, extra handkerchiefs, and a briefcase. I opened the briefcase (looking for business papers) and discovered dozens of love letters from a woman who worked in his department. I also found some unbelievably filthy pornographic pictures and magazines.

I threw everything damaging in the garbage can. Now I can't sleep at night thinking what would have happened, had I not opened that briefcase before I gave it to his wife.

Please tell your readers no one lives forever. Death can come unexpectedly to anyone. Remind them that their personal belongings may reveal a heartbreaking secret to the ones they love most. — Glad It Was I

Dear Friend: Your letter should serve as a warning to all whose desks and lockers could not bear the scrutiny of a stranger's eye. I can attest to the fact that their name is legion. I've received several letters from wives who were not spared the agony. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week you printed (for the third time since I've been reading your column) advice to the effect that it is rude to drop in on friends (or even family) uninvited.

My sister and I are maiden ladies. We never call anyone in advance. We just drop by when we feel like being friendly. No one has ever said they weren't glad to see us. You must be very lonely, Ann. I'll bet if you printed your address you'd have lots of company. How about it? — Want To Be Neighborly

Dear Neighbor: I'm sure I would. Thanks for your concern. I've got all the friends I can handle and nobody ever drops in on me. EVER.

Tax break on solar heat

The word "hesokuri" in Japanese means "to hide in the navel." Hesokuri is what the Japanese girls call that same sort of cash referred to by American women as pin money. Was once the custom of those Oriental ladies to conceal such funds in the front of their waist sashes, that's why.

Client asks the population of Maimi Beach. About 85,000 year-round with maybe a million in the winter. It's widely known that Miami Beach attracts numerous retired citizens. But please note, they go there to play, not to die. Miami Beach has no cemetery.

SOLAR HEATING

Q. — "What's comic Woody Allen's real name?"

A. — He was born Allen Stewart Konigsberg. Just 40 years ago. His dad engraved jewelry in Brooklyn.

Q. — "How many states will give you a tax write-off if you put in a home solar heating system?"

A. — Eight. Montana, Maryland, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Colorado, South Dakota, Illinois and Oregon.

Q. — "With what kind of animal is the male known as a boomer and the female a flier?"

A. — They're synonymous with buck and doe for kangaroos.

A musician has to be capable of blowing breath at hurricane velocity to play the flute, realize that?

SQUIRRELS

Why squirrels like the taste of lead-covered cable I don't know. But they do. A lot of them get electrocuted when they gnaw through same. A lot of telephones are knocked out, too, because of that.

The tale is told that a hotel cashier once shot himself to death, leaving a note to say he thought he had lost his mind because he had been unable one night to tally up a consistent total of the day's cash no matter how many times he tried. The first count gave him $690. The recount, $700. Again and again he counted, getting one of those two figures alternately each time. In checking out the suicide, police made a count to find a bill was printed $10 on one side and $20 on the other. No, it wasn't counterfiet. It was an error on a real U.S. Treasury bill. The cashier had simply turned over the stack as was his habit with each recount, and the irreconcilable irregularity, it must be assumed, finally got to him.

Dr. Miller

Rabbit stymies the pill pusher

DEAR DR. MILLER: In all modesty, I must say I'm a pretty good pill pusher. I've given pills to my dogs and cats in the past with great success. Now I'm stymied by my rabbit, Rudolph. I can't stuff these vitamin pills down him. Just no way. I've been bitten twice trying. What's the secret? — C.A.

DEAR C.A.: The secret to avoiding future trauma and conflict is to forget pill pushing. Rabbits resent and usually reject this approach. If the doctor feels Rudolph really needs a vitamin supplement, he'll provide one likely to be accepted with the food.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Bingo is still a kitten, but now alone. We got him not long ago as a playmate for Bongo, who would have been two this month. He was put to sleep because of advanced leukemia. Bingo shows no signs of anything wrong except lonesomeness. We're scared to death, though, he could have caught leukemia from Bongo without showing it. Could this possibly happen, or are we worried for nothing? — C.G.

DEAR C.G.: Unfortunately, your concern is valid. Bingo could have picked up leukemia from Bingo without your observing any signs of illness. While that was happening, there would have been a dramatic, but temporary, drop in one type of circulating blood cell, but this change would only be detectable by a laboratory. Since Bingo has been exposed, periodic checkups are prudent. Taking every reasonable precaution to keep Bingo healthy in the future is a good idea, anyway. Reducing future stresses could be doubly important if Bingo were carrying a latent form of leukemia.

Pondering puppy problems . . . prior to their appearance is prudent. In so doing, you can steer clear of some entirely. (For example, you can avoid messed-up rugs by keeping the untrained puppy off them to start with.) Of even greater importance in the successful long-term training of your puppy is the development of a consistent training system which copes properly from the very beginning with any training situation. By knowing ahead of time that a certain activity can create a problem later, and by dealing with it in its earliest stage, you save considerable confusion on the pup's part and a lot of training time. By always acting in a consistent manner — this is the key to training — your message comes across loud and clear, and the puppy can quickly establish respect and confidence in its leader (that should be you . . .)

Erma Bombeck

Mom in her illogical wisdom

A while back, my son did an essay on "Things My Mother Taught Me."

Of all the wonderful, profound bits of wisdom I have passed on to him, he preferred to dwell on my logic: "If you fall off that swing and break your neck, you are not going to the store with me," etc.

A group of kids in a mass media class were enchanted with the column and sent me more "Momisms" as they remembered them.

"You're welcome to read them . . . if you can bear the pain of seeing yourself in print.

"If you don't stop crying, I'll give you something to cry about."

"People who talk don't know what they're talking about."

"If you cut off your finger with that knife, no one is going to put it back on for you."

"If you don't stop watching all that violence on television, I'm going to put a dent in your behind." (?)

"If you go to the movies tonight, you can't go tomorrow night."

"You have a good time at your aunt's house . . . or else!"

"Clean your plate. Half of the world wants your leftovers."

"Shut the door! Are you part Eskimo?" (YOU don't know?)

"Don't you think I know when you have to go to the bathroom?"

"Never put your hand in the broiler unless you want broiled hands for dinner."

"Go to your room this instant . . . DON'T TURN YOUR BACK ON ME WHILE I AM TALKING TO YOU."

"If Mommy didn't love you, she'd never smack you."

Maybe it's the association with parents, but kids have also been known to come up with a peculiar kind of logic. How about, "Anyone who says I'm not mature is a dumb, old, stupid sweathog, and I'd like to punch in their face."

"I love you . . . just don't speak to me in public."

"I have to be free, independent, stand on my own two feet. You got a buck for gas?"

I am not saying there is anything wrong with parents' logic or with children's logic. It is only when we start to understand one another's logic that we are all in trouble.

Dr. Lamb

Dr. stresses exercise need

DEAR DR. LAMB — I enjoy your column in the paper but one thing bothers me and my European friends: your emphasis on the relationship between cholesterol and diet, totally ignoring the effect of vigorous exercise upon cholesterol.

I was a medical student in Poland. I visited other Eastern European countries and against my will lived in several parts of the Soviet Union. These people eat an extremely high saturated fat diet, everything swimming in butter, sour cream, lard, salt pork. Yet these people have few cases of heart attacks in the rural population.

The local medical profession has never concerned itself with cholesterol, taking for granted the local diet that has kept the nations going for thousands of years. They die from infections, childbirth, bites and consumption, but not from heart disease.

In the big cities statistics are different. I'm talking about Eastern Europe and not Western Europe which has picked up American life styles.

I am sending you some clippings that show that hard physical work works off cholesterol. I have never seen any of your columns where you discussed the relation between exercise and cholesterol and you only mention diets. If you would tell people that they could use exercise, many people would feel free to eat their ethnic foods and use exercise and avoid stress to prevent a buildup in cholesterol.

DEAR READER — You certainly have missed a lot of my columns. Asking me to stand up for exercise is about like asking Barry Goldwater to say something good for conservatives. One of my public services is, and has been for many years, lecturing at clinics for the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports for teachers of health education in the nation's schools.

You can't separate exercise and diet. The body is merely an energy converter. The food puts energy in and we use it to run our body at rest or for physical activity. If you take in more energy than your body uses there is an increase in body fat and with it in many people an increase in blood cholesterol levels and even increased blood pressure. I hate to think how many times I have told people that weight control involves this basic principle.

If you don't exercise much you can't eat much without getting fat and having these complications.

There are numerous examples in the world of people who do eat high-fat, high-cholesterol diets and have no heart and vascular problems. Part of it is hereditary but another part is the high level of activity. The Masi walk or trot more than 20 miles a day and the net result of food available and energy expended makes a thin individual. Obviously such a life style is not suited to our modern living habits so we must pay a lot more attention to our diet. It takes an enormous amount of work to compensate for a high-fat high-cholesterol diet.

The final answer for each individual really rests in his own state. If the blood cholesterol is low, in the optimal range, and stays there and the blood pressure is low, fine. If either are elevated then diet, exercise and sometimes medicine are all important to achieve the optimal results.

Barbs

The one thing one is never asked to return is borrowed trouble.

Men with broad outlooks are usually in disfavor with their spouses.

One of the chief causes of baldness is worrying over the possibility of becoming so.

Astrographs

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Friday, Jan. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be wise. Steer clear of those who are looking for a good time today. They'll depend on you to foot the bill.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An eruption on the home front today could challenge your leadership. Don't overreact. You'll gain respect after things calm down.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be prepared to roll up your sleeves today and tackle some old-fashioned labor. Elbow grease could resolve an old problem.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The younger generation may cause you to dip into your pocketbook today. Salvage something. Lay down some new rules at the same time!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll have an unexpected crisis on the domestic scene today. You can solve it if you're willing to compromise.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may find yourself to be all thumbs early in the day. Shun things requiring manual dexterity till later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your head's in the clouds today. You could want to buy an offbeat, useless item. It'll cost a bit, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The best approach today is to give in at home, but you'll find it hard to extricate yourself from the rigid position you've assumed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your normally glib tongue will not get you out of trouble today. In fact, it will only serve to put you in deeper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Strive not to feel you're being taken in a material sense. It isn't so. If you curb your imagination, you'll learn a lesson.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you feel unreasonably apprehensive about the motives of a friend or associate, subdue it. Renewed faith in others brings rewards.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't take undue chances today. Listen closely to what that little voice is saying — "Be sensible and cautious."

Your Birthday Jan. 30

After a possible erratic beginning this coming year, things will smooth out considerably. Don't despair. You'll emerge with a new, stronger personality.

Jacoby's bridge

Count hand for finesse

By Oswald & James Jacoby

	NORTH 5 ♠ Q J 2 ♥ A Q J ♦ A 10 9 6 ♣ A Q J
WEST ♠ 10 9 8 7 4 ♥ 9 5 ♦ Q 7 5 3 ♣ 10 6		EAST ♠ 5 3 ♥ 10 8 6 3 2 ♦ 4 ♣ 9 7 5 4 2
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A K 6 ♥ K 7 4 ♦ K J 8 2 ♣ K 8 3

North-South vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1 N.T.
Pass	7 N.T.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead — 10♠

No set of teaching hands would be complete without one designed to show how to count the defender's distribution in order to make finessing easier.

North counts his 21 points three or four times to make sure he isn't the victim of some new mathematical disease and then bids seven notrump.

South looks over dummy and sees that he has to pick up the queen of diamonds to make the grand slam. His first thought is to lead his jack of diamonds at trick two and play East for the queen if West fails to cover. Second thought tells him to postpone the diamond play until he can get some sort of count on the enemy distribution.

So he cashes the top clubs and West discards a spade on the third club. He goes after hearts next and again west has to discard on the third one.

Now South cashes a second spade and East follows. Twelve of East's cards have been accounted for and none of those 12 are diamonds. South plays his king of diamonds and East follows. South knows East does not hold another diamond so South finesses with absolute certainty.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know who invented the 4-3-2-1 point count.

The answer is that the late Bryant McCampbell of St. Louis wrote his friend Milton Work back in 1915 and suggested its use for notrump bidding. Work taught it for years and it became known as the Work count.

Charles Goren adapted it to all bidding and while he has never taken credit for inventing it, we want to give him credit for its great success. Everyone uses it today.

How to Pick Sleepers in Rare Plates

NORTHBROOK, Ill.— The director of a worldwide art exchange in this Chicago suburb has announced a new, easy way to start collecting rare porcelain plates with high resale potential.

According to Roderick MacArthur, director of the Bradford Exchange, one exceptional plate priced at $25 in 1965 now brings $1,750, and another selling at $9.75 in 1969 now sells for $440.

Mr. MacArthur says, "Since many plates do not increase in value, amateurs often make serious mistakes." He offers a free report on what to look for, when to buy, what to pay and much more. It even includes special offers on eagerly-sought collector plates at modest cost.

To get your free report with no obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code to the Bradford Exchange, 1454 Bradford Place. Northbrook, Illinois 60062. A postcard will do. To be sure of receiving your free copy, please mail your request before February 7, 1976.

New Olean plant manager named

David W. Hoffman of Santa Ana has been promoted to plant manager at American Olean Tile Co.'s Pomona plant where he has been the plant superintendent since June 1975.

The promotion was announced by Edward M. Adams, executive vice president-operations, at company headquarters in Lansdale, Pa.

Adams also announced that Raymond P. Killian, who served as plant manager at Pomona since 1973, nas been promoted to plant manager at American Olean's recently expanded Quakertown, Pa., plant. Killian and his family will return to Pennsylvania where he formerly worked as plant superintendent at the tile firm's Lansdale plant.

Hoffman has extensive ceramic tile production experience with Mosaic Tile Co. as a ceramic engineer, supervisor and plant manager. He is a graduate of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, where he majored in industrial technology. He also attended Cal State Fullerton.

American Olean is the nation's largest producer of ceramic tile and has eight plants in various locations across the country. The Pomona plant manufactures a wide range of glazed ceramic tile for both floors and walls, and sells its products for residential, commercial and industrial use.

JACK McCLOUD OF Ontario is the 28th president of Old Baldy Shrine Club. He was installed with other new officers during ceremonies Friday in Pomona.

Richardson asks probe of state links to prison union movement

State Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-19th Dist., has asked the Attorney General's Office to investigate an effort to unionize prison inmates following reports that some of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s administration officials were involved in assisting such a proposal.

"Any appointee who actively helped in this insane effort should be fired," declared Richardson who supported efforts by correctional officers to combat the plan.

"We are not talking about the traditional labor union membership. We're talking about bolsheviks inside and outside the prisons who want to foment as much internal strife in this country as they can.

"You can't design a better program to break down morale, disrupt the operation of the prisons and lead to more lawlessness."

Richardson said that polls show the public is demanding government to do something about crime. "Instead of curbing crime, the Brown administration through additional soft policies is driving this state in the direction of becoming the crime capital of the nation and its best haven for criminals," he added.

The legislator said he has introduced a bill to restore the work ethic into the prison system by requiring job and educational programs to be initiated. "I believe we can make the operations of our prisons 75 per cent self-supporting, if we work at it.

"But can you imagine trying to implement such a plan if such a thing as sanctioned unionization of prisoners occurs?" he asked. "No chance."

On campus

HARVEY MUDD COLLEGE'S women students have petitioned the Society of Women Engineers, an international professional educational service organization, to establish a local chapter on campus.

In preparation for establishing the chapter, the students recently elected officers. Lucia Liu was named chairman. Others chosen to head the group are Debbie Konkowski, secretary; and Ruth Ascanio, treasurer. Regular meetings are scheduled during the balance of the academic year.

The new chapter plans to publish a booklet listing full resumes not only of their own students but those at UCLA, Cal Poly Pomona, Cal State Long Beach and Loyola University, to sell to engineering firms.

GERALD V. HENDERSON, associated professor of physics and earth sciences at Cal Poly Pomona, will present a paper at the 1976 American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers annual meeting in Las Vegas, Nev., on Feb. 22.

Henderson is one of 220 authors presenting papers during the four-day conference.

The paper, "Location and Suitability of Carbonate Materials for SO2 Scrubbers — Western U.S.," was co-authored by Dave Rogers, also from Cal Poly Pomona.

THE CLAREMONT COLLEGES' Center for Continuing Education will sponsor five noncredit seminars meeting one evening a week for six weeks and a career and life planning workshop for adult students beginning mid-February.

Seminar topics will be: "Techniques and Ethics of Behavior Control," "The Arts of Reading," "Religion in the Contemporary World," "The Relationship of Science and Technology to Modern Literature and the Fine Arts" and "Literary Views of Marriage in Crisis." Tuition is $55.

The 10-week workshop for adults interested in beginning or changing careers will be conducted on Thursday evenings beginning Feb. 19. The fee is $60.

Information and registration materials are available at the Center, 160 Harper Hall, Claremont, or by calling 626-8511, ext. 3660. Enrollment deadline is Feb. 10.

THE CLAREMONT COLLEGES Center for Continuing Education will conduct a workshop for adults who are interested in beginning or returning to college.

The workshop will be on Jan. 31 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Humanities Building at Scripps College, Claremont. The $5 cost includes lunch.

Administrators and adult students from the colleges will discuss reasons for continuing education, problems facing adult students and a variety of options available to them. Information about the Claremont Colleges will be available.

Reservations are due by Friday. They may be made by calling the center at Harper Hall, 626-8511, ext. 2660.

Jackson has 'good word' for President's budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson said that he finds the increased defense spending proposed by President Ford "generally acceptable."

"I question some of the President's defense priorities, but I think he should be commended for coming up with a budget which moves toward correcting the decline in U.S. military strength compared to the Soviets," he said.

The Washington Democrat, a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said "it may not be popular to come out for a strong defense, but this nation cannot afford to fall behind the Soviet Union if we are to help maintain world peace."

Ford's budget calls for defense spending of $100.1 billion in the coming fiscal year, an increase of $8.9 billion over the estimated level for the current year.

"The only safe way to make substantial reductions in defense spending is to initiate a program of mutual arms reduction with the Soviets," Jackson said.

Religion feud: man knifed

One man was stabbed Tuesday night and another arrested after an argument over religion turned into a scuffle in Pomona.

The victim, Jaysen Garfunkel Shey, 25, was treated for three stab wounds in his upper body at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and later released. His alleged attacker, Frank James Pedrosa, 22, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

The incident occurred at the Kellogg Valley Residence, 2180 W. Valley Blvd.

Police reported that Shey wanted to discuss religion with Pedrosa but Pedrosa refused. A scuffle developed during which Shey was stabbed, they said.

Both men live at the Kellogg Valley Residence.

Climber injured in fall

A 19-year-old Fullerton man who slipped and fell more than 60 feet was carried out of the rugged San Antonio Falls area of Mt. Baldy Tuesday afternoon by Mt. Baldy firemen and the West End Search and Rescue team.

Richard Mahoney of Fullerton was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital for multiple head injuries and later released.

West End sheriff's deputies said Mahoney was climbing up some steep rocks above San Antonio Falls when he slipped. Mahoney fell more than 60 feet, striking his head on rocks below.

Cyclist is hit-run victim

A motorcycle rider was injured in Pomona Tuesday evening when he was struck by a car whose driver then fled the scene, police reported.

The victim, Hanson J. Shellner, 17, Pomona, was northbound in Indian Hill Boulevard south of Lincoln Avenue when the car hit his motorcycle from behind. Shellner suffered a cut forehead, shoulder, hand and knee injuries but did not require immediate medical attention.

Social workers to meet

The West End District of the National Association of Social Workers will meet Tuesday at noon at the Tri-City Mental Health Center, 1149 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Patricia Sutter will present the program on behavior modification.

Campbell wants survival test for agencies

ASSEMBLYMAN WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-64th Dist., has introduced legislation designed to end the proliferation of unnecessary and state regulatory agencies.

"Our state regulatory agencies, once established to help the people of California, are fast becoming the most serious danger facing our free and democratic society," he declared.

Campbell said his legislation is designed to insure the agencies are efficient and productive, and those not necessary will be eliminated.

"My legislation, if signed into law, would abolish each and every state regulatory agency within five years. Prior to that time, agencies would be required to justify their continued existence to the legislature.

"Through the committee process, the legislature would conduct hearings into the performance and effectiveness of the agencies. If they find that an agency is performing effectively, the legislature could adopt a concurrent resolution disapproving the abolition of that agency," he explained.

"From then on, agencies will be required to continue to go before the legislature every five years for review and reconfirmation of their legislative mandate."

Campbell said he was concerned that these agencies have taken the task of "lawmaking" into their own hands. "My legislation would insure that any time an agency wants to impose criminal penalties for disobeying a particular regulation, that regulation would first be reviewed by the legislature."

STATE SEN. H. L. RICHARDSON, R-19th Dist., has criticized the Senate for passing legislation to provide workman's compensation coverage for prison inmates.

"There is a great tendency on the part of many in this government to ignore that certain people have to be incarcerated because they can't live by society's rules. Why should they be granted the same rights and privileges as those who commit no crimes?"

Richardson said the bill raises some serious questions about maintaining order inside the institutions, such as whether a prisoner stabbed by another inmate in a work area should be awarded workman's compensation.

"Will this legislation create an inhibiting effect on correctional officers by making it possible for inmates to collect workman's compensation if injured by a guard doing his job of keeping order?" he asked.

"Proponents pointed out that no workman's compensation would be paid until an inmate is released from prison. I would hope there would be more concern about helping such a person find employment rather than worry about workman's compensation," he said.

THE CALIFORNIA DEMOCRATIC Commission on National Platform and Policy will hold a series of public hearings to provide information in developing a national platform. These hearings by subject include:

Foreign policy, Saturday, 9:30 a.m., State Building auditorium, 107 S. Broadway, Los Angeles; consumer, Saturday, 10 a.m., Pepperdine University Friendship Hall, 8035 S. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles; and health and welfare, Feb. 14, 10 a.m., Los Angeles County Federation of Labor building, 2130 W. Ninth St., Los Angeles.

"California's Democratic Platform Commission is attempting to develop a federally oriented platform, drafted by Californians to be presented to the National Platform Committee," said Charles T. Manatt, commission chairman.

ROBERT FINCH, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, has called for a repeal of that portion of a law sponsored by Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., that requires 39 California counties to print multi-lingual ballots.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS CALLING FOR BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Pomona Unified School District of Los Angeles County, California, acting by and through its Governing Board, hereinafter referred to as the District, will receive up to, but not later than 3:00 o'clock P.M. on the 26th day of February, 1976, sealed bids for the award of the contract for:

FIRE DAMAGE REPAIR TO YORBA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
250 WEST LA VERNE AVENUE
POMONA, CALIFORNIA

All bids shall be made on a bid form furnished by the District.

Bids shall be received in the office of the Ass't. Supt. of Business, Pomona Unified School District, 800 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California, and shall be opened and publicly read aloud at the above stated time and place.

Each bid shall be accompanied by the security referred to in the contract documents and the list of proposed subcontractors.

The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding. Preference will be made in the award for California made supplies, pursuant to Section 4330 and 4334, inclusive, Government Code.

The District has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract. These prevailing rates so determined are on exhibit in the Architect's office and the District Office, and are available to any interested party on request. The successful bidder will be required to post a copy thereof at each jobsite.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all workmen employed by them in the execution of the contract.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening bids.

Each bid must conform and be responsive to all the pertinent contract documents. Copies are now on file and open for public inspection in the office of the Architect, Cashion-Horie, Architects, Inc., 720 N. Park Avenue, Pomona, California, and in the office of the Assistant Superintendent of Business, Pomona Unified School District. Plans and specifications and all pertinent contract documents may be obtained for bidding at either of the above offices, upon deposit of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per set. Each Twenty-five dollars ($25.00) deposit will be refunded if the drawings and specifications are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after Bid Opening.

All bidders must specify that they are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

W. Covina city exec quits job

West Covina City Council accepted the resignation of City Manager George Aiassa in an emotionally charged meeting crowded with administrators and staff, community well-wishers and friends this week.

Mayor Kenneth I. Chappell reluctantly announced Aiassa's retirement following an executive session in which he and other councilmen had attempted to persuade the 18-year veteran of the city to stay on. Leonard Eliot, Aiassa's key assistant and director of the Community Redevelopment Agency, was unanimously appointed acting city manager.

learn English," he said. "Less than one per cent of the voters in last month's elections throughout the state made use of the multi-lingual materials printed in Chinese and Spanish in addition to English."

Should the law be allowed to stand, it would cost state and local governments more than $20 million, said Finch.

New officers have been elected to the PUENTE HILLS DEMOCRATIC Club. They are Lloyd E. Stoa, president; Judith Schmidt, first vice president; Howard Kellogg, second vice president; Vernette Pemberton, recording secretary; Richard Ashcroft, treasurer; Margaret Millman, corresponding secretary.

The club meets the third Thursday of each month at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building, 2233 S. Hacienda Blvd., Hacienda Heights.

CECIL GREEN, Democratic candidate in the 33rd Senatorial District, will speak to members of the Walnut Valley Kiwanis Club Friday at 7 a.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club.

He will discuss juvenile justice, crime and curbing dangerous drug usage in local communities.

Business sales in valley outpace state, Southland

The effects of rapid inflation continued to be felt by valley businesses during the third quarter of 1975 according to taxable sales figures released by the state Board of Equalization.

Total taxable sales for the nine valley cities were $215,713,000 during the quarter, up 8.9 per cent from the year previous when third quarter sales totaled $198,013,000.

The gain, however, was lower than the estimated statewide inflation factor of 9.5 per cent, meaning that there was a slight decrease of sales by volume.

The valley's gain of 8.9 per cent was superior to the statewide growth of 7.4 per cent, and Southern California as a whole, 7 per cent.

Strong growth gains were enjoyed by Pomona and the West End cities of Ontario, Upland and Montclair.

Pomona, up 8.8 per cent from $76,641,000 to $83,377,000, continues as the predominate business leader in the valley, accounting for 38.6 of all sales and 38 per cent of all growth.

Upland gained 12 per cent, up from $18,428,000 to $20,655,000.

Ontario was up 10 per cent from $37,408,000 to $41,185,000.

Montclair gained 9.1 per cent from $34,910,000 to $38,091,000.

The percentage growth leader in the valley was La Verne, where total sales increased 42.7 per cent from $4,091,000 to $5,838,000.

Two valley cities, Claremont and Chino, suffered decreased sales. Claremont was down 4.6 per cent from $7,202,000 to $6,869,000, while Chino was down .8 per cent from $13,382,000 to $13,268,000.

San Dimas showed a gain totaling 8.4 per cent, from $4,862,000 to $5,274,000.

Walnut gained 6.1 per cent from $1,089,000 to $1,156,000.

According to the state figures, personal income for Californians increased 8.7 per cent over the year previous, but coupled with inflation and higher taxes (as the individual moves into a higher tax bracket) there was a drop in per capita purchasing power.

The state report noted that while the recession appeared to bottom out prior to the third quarter 1975, consumers apparently are still delaying purchases as they await further price developments.

An unusual feature in Cuban elections

HAVANA (AP) — An unusual feature about the election to be held in Cuba later this year is that candidates will not declare themselves.

Under the Cuban system, persons cannot actively pursue public office. They must be proposed by fellow-workers and friends who have noted their diligent work at building the party and the state.

The philosophy is that a person must work for the entire society, completely unconcerned whether that good work is noticed. If it is noticed and he is proposed, then he has a duty to accept.

Persons indicating political ambition would be shunned for trying to build names for themselves.

A warning against building personality cults and putting one's own interests ahead of society was delivered in December by Prime Minister Fidel Castro, the administrative and political leader.

The first principle for living in a Communist state is not to aspire to public office, he said. Merit was the only basis for choosing leaders and the masses would decide that on their own, Castro added.

The ground rules for the elections, the first since before Castro's 1959 revolution, are contained in a draft constitution approved in December by the party's first congress.

Most people older than 16 will be allowed to vote, including armed forces members. The only apparent exclusions are those declared mentally incapacitated by a court and those who have committed crimes.

Officials say a person need not belong to the Communist party to be a candidate, but it is highly unlikely that a non-Communist would be proposed.

The constitution indicates that it is almost impossible to meet the requirements of outstanding citizenship without being in the party. It has been estimated that 180,000 to 200,000 of Cuba's 9 million people belong to the party.

The elections will create national, provincial and municipal assemblies of "popular power." These will approve laws affecting their own jurisdiction.

A National Assembly is to be elected every five years. It will meet twice a year in public, except when it is considered in the interests of the state to meet in private.

Persons elected to the National Assembly will be called deputies and will combine their duties with everyday tasks. Their political duties include listening to their electors and explaining state policies to them.

When the assembly sits, the deputies are to receive leave from their jobs without pay, but they will get a daily allowance equivalent to their salary, plus expenses.

The constitution says the status of a deputy "does not entail personal privileges or economic benefits of any kind."

The Council of State, selected from the National Assembly, will represent the assembly when it is not sitting. It will consist of a president, first vice president, five additional vice presidents and 24 other members.

The president, likely to be Castro, will be head of government and head of state. The present head of state is President Osvaldo Dorticos, and it is uncertain what will happen to him when the two jobs are combined.

The Council of State will propose a Council of Ministers, or Cabinet. This executive body will be the government and the highest-ranking organ in the country.

Since 1959, the country has been run by Castro and comrades who fought with him in the revolution, with no organized system for public participation.

The constitution gives the National Assembly broad powers. It will have to approve almost all laws and changes proposed by the Council of State and the Cabinet.

Some observers say that because the top government positions are certain to be filled by the Communist party hierarchy, the National Assembly will be merely a rubber stamp.

San Diego blames smog on hydrocarbon evaporation

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Smog invading San Diego County is caused mainly by evaporation of reactive hydrocarbons from stationary sources, not by cars, a new report says.

The discovery is "most startling," county supervisors were told by Larry Taylor, director of the San Diego Air Quality Planning Team.

A study by his researchers has confirmed preliminary findings, he said, that 40 per cent of the smog is caused by such things as evaporation of petroleum products such as gasoline stored at service stations and evaporation of paints and materials used in dry cleaning.

Automobiles produce 32 per cent of the air pollution, Taylor reported Wednesday. He listed other sources as trucks, motorcycles, airplanes and trains.

By 1980, he said, cars will cause only 24 per cent of the smog because of exhaust controls.

There also is conclusive proof that smog arriving from the Los Angeles Basin is responsible for the worst days of polllution in San Diego County, Taylor said.

Between 5 to 15 days annually, the oxidant reading exceeds .20 part of oxidant per million parts of air.

Business NEWS

Announcing Pep Boys 24th Annual Four-Year Engineering Scholarship today are Murray Rosenfeld, Executive Vice President and General Manager of The Pep Boys; Joseph Kaplan, Executive Vice President of the Los Angeles chapter of the National Safety Council; and Evelle J. Younger, Attorney General of the State of California.

24th ANNUAL FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED BY THE PEP BOYS

The Pep Boys - Manny, Moe and Jack - today announced the opening of their 24th Annual Four-Year Engineering Scholarship competition. This scholarship, providing tuition, books, and supplies for a four-year term, is open to all California high school seniors graduating in June 1976. It may be utilized at any California State College or State University.

The primary qualifications for the scholarship competition are scholastic standing and a traffic safety essay contest. Murray Rosenfeld, Executive Vice President and General Manager of the Pep Boys, stated that entry blanks for the competition can now be obtained from senior high school class counselors. Essay contest deadline is March 1, 1976. Trophies and U.S. Savings Bonds will be awarded to three students writing the best essays on the theme: What I Would Do To Prevent Traffic Accidents and Save Lives.

"Winners will be determined by the application of four judging factors," Rosenfeld stated. "These are the excellence of the essay, scholarship standing, good citizenship, and score on a special college entrance examination."

Judges for the essay competition will be Evelle J. Younger, Attorney General of the State of California; Joseph Kaplan, Executive Vice President of the Los Angeles Chapter of the California Highway Patrol; Lt. M. Johnston of the California Highway Patrol; Fred English, Supervisor of the Driver Instruction section of the Los Angeles City Schools; and Deputy District Attorney Richard Hecht, Director of Special Operations.

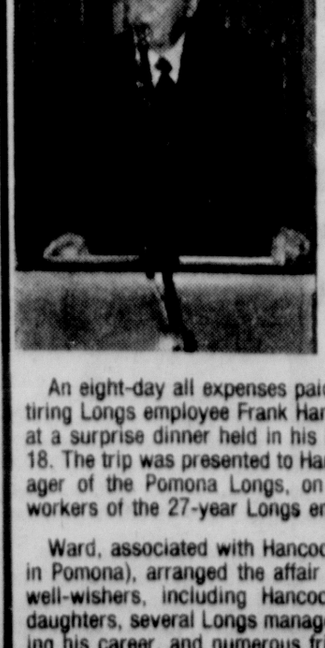
"Our generation has not begun to solve the problems of traffic accidents, careless drivers and vehicle safety. Even with reduced speed limits on highways, the number of accidents grows. And traffic safety continues to concern all levels of government," said Rosenfeld. "It's time to look to the coming generation for solutions because they see traffic safety from a fresh point of view. This is why Pep Boys conducts this annual essay competition — to encourage young people to view our community problems in a constructive manner; to create new solutions for our old highway accident problems."

FIRST FEDERAL HITS RECORD HIGH

First Federal Savings and Loan Association recorded the biggest gain in its 40 year history during 1975. Total assets for the Covina based firm reached $60,190,190 at year's end, an increase more than 24%. Savings totaled $54,086,252, a similar increase.

In commenting on the substantial gains, Francis F. Hall, President, said, "We are certainly gratified to have had such a successful year. We are also pleased to have completely remodeled our headquarters building in Covina. The exterior has a new, contemporary look and the lobby area has been enlarged and refurbished.

"During 1975 we also initiated several new important customer services including Individual Retirement Accounts and Direct Deposit of Social Security checks. We have plans for further expansion in both facilities and customer services for 1976."



SURPRISE RETIREMENT PARTY HONORS LONGS' FRANK HANCOCK

An eight-day all expenses paid vacation to Hawaii for retiring Longs employee Frank Hancock capped the festivities at a surprise dinner held in his honor at Orlando's January 18. The trip was presented to Hancock by Frank Ward, manager of the Pomona Longs, on behalf of friends and co-workers of the 27-year Longs employee.

Ward, associated with Hancock for the past 19 years (16 in Pomona), arranged the affair which was attended by 75 well-wishers, including Hancock's wife, Evelyn, his two daughters, several Longs managers he had worked with during his career, and numerous friends.

An avid golfer, Hancock is devoting more time to the game in retirement, and he and Evelyn plan to take their Hawaiian vacation this summer. The Hancocks reside at 2717 Arrow Highway, La Verne.

Ex-legislators now lobbying for business interests

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Many of the lobbyists who represent business in the California Capitol know their way around the legislature. They should — a number used to be legislators themselves.

The nearly 700 men and women registered as lobbyists in Sacramento include one former speaker of the Assembly and about 10 former legislators.

And the former lawmakers are numbered among the Capitol's most influential and effective spokesmen for business.

James D. Garibaldi, who 40 years ago represented Madera and Merced counties in the Assembly, is generally accorded the title of dean of California's legislative advocates, as lobbyists are formally known.

Garibaldi represents liquor, horseracing, oil and other clients ranging from Blue Chip Stamps to the California Association of Highway Patrolmen.

A recent prominent addition to the lobbying fraternity in Sacramento is Bob Monagan, former speaker of the California Assembly and Republican minority leader for six years.

Monagan is now principal spokesman for the California Manufacturers Association.

Dugald Gillies, Paul Brown and former Assemblyman Daniel Creedom are others who rank among Sacramento's most influential lobbyists.

Former Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves represents dairy interests.

Creedon, like Garibaldi, is a contract lobbyists with a variety of clients. Gillies represents the California Association of Realtors and Brown the California Medical Association.

Like many professional lobbyists, Garibaldi is an independent businessman. He maintains his own office and small staff in a building across the street from the Capitol.

This year Garibaldi represents 10 major clients. He doesn't disclose his personal fees, but his spending on drinks and meals for legislators and public officials is a public record.

In 1975 Garabaldi averaged about $100 a month on food and drink, a dramatic drop from the $1,000 to $3,000 a month he spent before Prop. 9, California's political reform initiative, clamped legal lids on lobbyist entertainment a year ago.

That heavily publicized act changed the life style of lobbyists around the Capitol, but it really didn't change the process that much, Garibaldi said in an interview.

"I really don't see too much change," Garibaldi said. "Our life style has changed. I absolutely stopped all entertaining. It's just too much of a burden. The reporting you have to do is colossal."

But the business of buying meals and drinks for legislators was exaggerated by critics, Garibaldi said.

His principal business was, and still is, keeping track of bills that either help or hurt his clients and providing arguments and expert testimony on behalf of his clients.

In many cases, the lobbyist's most important service to his client is to suggest amendments to legislation to make it less burdensome on business, or to prevent legislation from imposing a burden or restraint that was unintended.

Garibaldi and other Sacramento lobbyists spend a big portion of their time testifying before Senate and Assembly committees and contacting legislators individually to argue their cases.

Monagan said there was an antibusiness trend in the legislature last year, but he thinks this year will be better.

"They're beginning to realize that Californians care more about jobs than liberal notions," he said of the legislature. That should help business, he predicted.

Lobbyists, like big business, have had a bad name with the public.

The process sounds a bit evil and conjures images of the late Artie Samish, who proudly called himself "The secret boss of California."

Lobbying is the business of influencing legislation. And just about everybody does it — from Standard Oil of California, with 16 registered Sacramento lobbyists, to the Sierra Club, with four. Or, from an alphabetical perspective, lobbyists range from the A-1 Nurses Registry to Zero Population Growth.

Generally, lobbyists representing California business are divided into three groups:

The professional lobbyists such as Garibaldi and Creedon number only about 50 or so. They generally have a number of clients in totally unrelated fields. Creedon, for example, represents brewers, funeral directors, thrift and loan companies and one small city.

The second group is the association lobbyists such as Monagan of CMA, former deputy state controller Kirk West of the California Taxpayers Association and the numerous representatives of the state Chamber of Commerce.

About three dozen industries are represented by association lobbyists. About a dozen public employe groups have similar group representation, led by the huge California Teachers Association and California State Employes Association.

More than 100 California lobbyists are fulltime employes of the firms they represent. But many of these people are company attorneys and only devote a small part of their time to lobbying.

Many California cities and counties also employ fulltime or contract lobbyists, and dozens of other paid and volunteer lobbyists represent consumer, environmental and political reform groups.

Jackson: tax cut mistake, failed to revive economy

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., says that campaign season tax cuts were a mistake which failed to revive the economy. Instead he proposes energy, housing, public works and jobs programs to do the job, at outlays that could run to $20 billion.

But Jackson and his advisers decline to put any price tag on his proposals and say instead that they are considering various possibilities without deciding now which ones the Democratic presidential nominee would adopt. They say that the choice would depend upon economic conditions almost a year from now.

At the same time, Jackson, for years one of Israel's staunchest American defenders, advocates negotiations in the Middle East to create a demilitarized buffer zone in the Sinai Desert and perhaps along the Golan Heights to give Israel stable and defensible borders with Egypt and Syria.

Jackson does not propose new taxes to pay for his economic programs and contends they can be implemented without creating huge new budget deficits. He doesn't say how. A deficit of more than $70 billion is in prospect this year without such programs.

Jackson says his proposals could be paid for in part by new income from offshore oil leases, an income he estimates at $2 billion a year.

The administration's new budget estimates receipts from outer continental shelf leasing at $6 billion during the next fiscal year. According to a spokesman for the Bureau of Land Management, leases sold during 1975 brought in just over $1 billion. The Interior Department forecasts an accelerated rate of leasing in the new budget year. It is not clear how much continuing revenue the government can get from the leases, since royalties depend on successful oil and gas exploration.

Jackson, who is making his second bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, said much of the remaining cost of new programs would be absorbed by the increased tax revenues he says will follow a cut in the unemployment rate and boosted industrial and business activity.

But he has no specific plan to bridge the revenue gap during the period of recovery he says he can bring about.

Jackson offers a few precise figures. He promises a detailed economic position paper later.

He said in an interview that the hallmark of a Jackson administration would be "a complete reversal in the economic downturn."

He rejects the notion that economic expansion has ended in the United States and that Americans must accept a "no-growth" economy for the foreseeable future.

However, there is no Jackson budget plan to show exactly how his programs would continue that expansion and rduce unemployment, or exactly what they would cost and how they would be paid for. The candidate and his men say they won't try to produce one until they see what shape the economy is in next fall.

Jackson said he does not believe tax cuts are the answer to economic recovery and that the nation would have been better off had $18 billion been devoted to job-producing public works and energy projects last year rather than to a tax reduction.

"It has not given the economy the shot in the arm you might expect," he said.

However, he said that while he believes the original tax cut was a mistake, he voted to extend it into 1976 because he also believes it would be an equal or greater mistake to cut if off abruptly now. He said that would raise the possibility of dampening the economy and cutting chances for recovery. Jackson was absent when the tax cut was first voted last spring but had not opposed it publicly.

Jackson said he does not believe specific stands on issues will determine who is nominated or who wins the presidency this year.

"I believe the decision of the voters will be on the basis of whether or not the candidate is competent," Jackson said.

Jackson offers as the centerpiece of his economic package a proposal to create a National Energy Mobilization Board to use the estimated $2 billion in annual oil lease income to organize the development of the nation's energy reserves and the search for alternative energy sources.

He says this project likely would include the rebuilding of the nation's railroads, especially as a necessary means to get the nation's large coal reserves from mine to industry. And he said an importat byproduct would be to put thousands of persons back to work.

For example, his economic aides cite congressional projections that a $4-billion program to rebuild the rail beds would employ up to 60,000 persons.

They said a program expanded to include electrification of rail lines and the construction of overpasses at highway junctions and other improvements would cost a total of $6 billion to $9 billion and create some 200,000 to 250,000 jobs.

But aides say that at this point Jackson has not committed himself to either program but is only presenting a range of price tags for future consideration.

They take the same position on energy development plans.

Jackson's energy board would be patterned after the War Production Board which directed the industrial mobilization of American industry during World War II. Jackson contends it would spend only what was earned from new federal oil leases.

He said the board would not necessarily attempt to put the federal government into the energy development business itself but would aim at organizing private industrial efforts.

Jackson is also proposing an expanded national housing program based upon a minimum 2.6 million housing starts a year, 600,000 of them subsidized by the federal government.

The Jackson camp has no precise cost and job impact figures for this proposal but gives ranges based on past experience in the housing field.

They estimate that the 600,000 subsidized housing starts would cost the government an estimated $5 billion and result in the creation of 1.2 million jobs based on the industry rule-of thumb that each housing start equals two man-years of work.

The Jackson forces maintain that this kind of housing program would not result in $5 billion in additional budget deficits because the federal Treasury would get most or all of the money back in increased tax returns. But they acknowledge that couldn't happen immediately.

Jackson contends unemployment is at the root of the government's fiscal problems.

"The public believes the deficit is tied to overspending," Jackson said. "On the contrary, it is a measure of the mismanagement of the economy. It is a failure of the economy to produce the revenue to meet the budgetary estimates. The reason we have the big deficits is tied directly to unemployment."

He said that last year, with unemployment running well above 8 per cent, unemployment benefits alone cost the government $22 billion. Federal welfare costs added another $19 billion, he said.

Jackson said putting people back to work also is a key to ending inflation.

"The more people you have out of work the more money you spend to support them," Jackson said. "And that means bigger and bigger deficits which in turn means more inflation."

Unemployment is likely to remain a problem at the beginning of the next administration no matter who is elected, Jackson said, adding, "I would for a little initial investment put these people to work instead of handing out unemployment and welfare checks and food stamps." He did not specify the amount.

The Jackson campaign says the final dimensions would have to wait on an evaluation of the economy and an analysis of how effective other programs had been in dealing with the unemployment problem.

The same response is given when aides are asked about the costs of Jackson's proposals for public works projects as a means of reducing unemployment.

On another subject, the price of oil on the international market, Jackson said adoption of his bill to provide for secret bidding by Arab states for the right to supply the American oil market would lead to competition among nations belonging to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and would begin to dissolve their unity.

He said that while oil prices probably will rise in the future, the increase can be moderated and need not be so dramatic as in the past.

"We are confronted with an administration that wants to price oil produced here on the basis of the price fixed by the cartel," he said. "The market price is rigged, and that's what I'm against."

Jackson said controlling increasing oil prices is another important way to control inflation, but he did not spell out how this can be done.

As to the Middle East, Jackson is a leading defender of Israel and has had a strong base of Jewish political support.

Jackson says his proposal to create a demilitarized zone in the Middle East is intended as a short-term solution which he hopes would be achieved through direct negotiations between Israel and the Arab states, to be followed by more such negotiations. The DMZ plan would create zones in the Sinai between Israel and Egypt and perhaps in the Golan Heights between Israel and Syria. Jackson says he has not worked out specific boundaries for the zones.

He called for both sides to base a permanent solution on a cooperative effort between themselves and the United States to develop the area and improve the economic plight of the displaced Palestinians.

He did not say what this latter step would entail, how much it would cost and how much of that cost would be borne by the United States.

When pressed for further details, a foreign policy adviser on Jackson's Senate staff said Jackson hopes the demilitarized zone question could be broached by Israel to the Arabs at a renewed Geneva conference.

Jackson and his aides believe the process might be started with talks between military officers from both sides who have talked successfully before and whom Jackson perceives as having "fewer hangups with 'implied recognition.'"

New gift law irks many politicians

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Legislature's leaders, Leo McCarthy and James Mills, believe the new state law requiring legislators to report their gifts is a strong control against possible abuses.

But other legislators are not so positive about the law.

Democratic Assemblyman Leon Ralph, for example, angrily refused recently to name major contributors to a birthday party he listed on disclosure forms at more than $10,000.

"I don't understand the significance of the story," he snapped, adding that he'd had no complaints from his South Gate district since the party was disclosed in a newspaper story

But McCarthy, the Democratic Assembly speaker describes the law's deterrent value bluntly: "The reporting of any gift can kill you" if, for some reason, it sparks enough controversy.

The San Francisco lawmaker added: "I think many kinds of gifts, if large and coming from inappropriate sources, could consciously or unconsciously affect the independence of legislators."

With a gift of significant value, there is a fair chance a legislator's judgment could be affected, McCarthy said. But he said today's legislature is much cleaner than legislatures in the past.

McCarthy added that the legislature should see how the law works for a year before it considers any changes in it. He added the gift giving has dropped off sharply in recent years.

"As long a people know what's happening, that's a significant safeguard," said Mills, a San Diego Democrat.

The new law, part of the 1974 Political Reform Act, requires legislators and some local elected officials to report gifts over $25. The first gift reports were filed early this month.

That filing revealed thousands of dollars in gifts, including Disneyland passes and odd items like terrariums and a pistol.

Ralph isn't the only legislator who is less than thrilled with the new law.

Assemblyman Walter Ingalls, a Riverside Democrat, has made his annoyance very clear. Last month he announced he would not report a sweater from a girlfriend worth over $25.

On his form, he listed five movie theater passes and three parking permits and left the value-of-gift slot blank.

"They can pry all they want. I may or may not have received others. I won't help them," Ingalls said.

He added that the reporting requirement is "an invasion of my rights and comes under the heading of nobody's business."

Both McCarthy and Mills listed several gifts on their forms.

"If you don't have to say who it's from, there would be a severe problem in allowing gifts," Mills said. "We must let people know who they come from, or we should forbid their being accepted."

Sometimes legislators mail gifts back, but McCarthy said that act can raise problems too.

"There's the question of whether to go through the exercise of mailing it back. It looks like you're trying to be particularly noble," he said.

Then there are gifts like free Disneyland passes to legislators who are quite well-to-do. Assemblyman Terry Goggin, for example, listed a beneficiary trust worth over $100,000 on his form.

He also listed a $50 Disneyland pass gift for free admission and rides Sept. 6, 1975.

Mills, when asked if well-todo legislators should receive such gifts, said, "It doesn't amount to a hill of beans, but it would be better if it didn't happen. Often it is the least important things that cause the public to respond — not the most important. And a lot of newspaper people would rather write about small things."

Olympics okay, says Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — The main Olympic stadium and swimming hall will be ready for the 1976 Summer Games in July although some of the facilities will be temporary.

Quebec Municipal Affairs Minister Victor Goldbloom, who is responsible for the Olympics installations board, told a news conference Wednesday the stadium will be completed at a more relaxed pace after the Games are over.

The news conference was billed two weeks ago as the moment for the announcement of a decision on whether the Summer Olympics were to take place.

"It is clear that the facilities will not be complete," Goldbloom said. "But facilities for athletes, officials and spectators will be sufficiently complete for the holding of the Games."

The optimistic prediction by Goldbloom was based on continuing good labor relations on the Olympic site.

"Success is of course conditional on the continued close cooperation of all concerned," he said, adding he hoped the workers' sense of pride would prevent any walkouts in the future.

While he said no specific assurance had been given that further labor disputes would not disrupt the current completion schedule, he said he was heartened by reports from board members concerning their daily meetings with union representatives on the site.

A "disaster plan" was still available, Goldbloom said, in case the stadium could not be finished in time for the opening. He refused to reveal details of this plan.

The minister would not say which facilities would not be completed by the Games' opening July 17 on the grounds that the information is contained in a progress report which will be given to the International Olympic Committee.

This report is to be presented to the IOC Executive Committee on Saturday and to the full committee on Monday in meetings in Innsbruck, Austria, where this year's Winter Olympics are being held.

The Canadian delegation to the IOC meetings is to be headed by Goldbloom and Roger Rousseau, president of the Montreal Olympic Organizing Committee.

The only indication of what facilities would be temporary concerned seating in the stadium which is to hold 65,000 to 70,000 spectators for the opening and closing ceremonies, Goldbloom said.

There may be more than the originally planned 15,000 to 20,000 temporary seats, he said.

Few notice USC, Boyd

Bill Sharman and Gene Bartow are receiving all the "heat" from Southland basketball fans these days.

USC's Bob Boyd is in worse shape than the other two coaches but little is said about Boyd's problems while Sharman and Bartow are the center of attention.

It's probably because nobody cares about Boyd and the Trojans.

There was an interesting letter in a Los Angeles newspaper last week.

When John McKay ran the show at USC, he was an advocate of getting rid of the Northwest schools from the Pacific-8 Conference because of the lack of competition and attendance.

So, one fan suggested the Pac-8 get rid of USC in basketball for the same reasons.

USC draws the smallest home crowds of any Pac-8 team. Most of the fanatic Trojan alumni who live or die with each football game avoid the Sports Arena like a plague.

For years, Boyd had to suffer in anonymity while cross-town rival UCLA was recording national championships on an annual basis under the wizardry of John Wooden.

Wooden finally retired after last year so Boyd had his big chance.

But new Bruin coach Bartow inherited a team consisting of All-American types like Richard Washington and Marques Johnson plus many other outstanding players including the top prep sensations from the Southland.

Young team

Meanwhile, Boyd had a young but promising team in USC. The Trojans don't have a senior but most of the key players had game experience.

Not too much was expected of this USC team. The forecast for the Pac-8 finish was somewhere in the middle of the pack.

So a few eyebrows were raised in December when Boyd's team complied an 11-1 record including championships in tournaments at Vanderbilt and Hawaii.

Meanwhile, the Lakers were starting to fall apart and UCLA was shaky. It was the perfect opportunity for USC to take over the town.

But the Tojans blew their big chance. Not only did they lose both games in Oregon, they also fell at home to California and Stanford. Adding to the misfortunes was a non-conference loss to Arizona State.

Boyd's team is suddenly 0-4 in the Pac-8 with a five-game losing streak and road games at UCLA, Washington State and Washington coming up next.

"Our timing wasn't good," Boyd admits. "It would have been nice to be 16-1 at this point. We would have had a lot of people noticing us."

Boyd now has the task of getting his team prepared to tackle UCLA's incredible string of 94 consecutive wins at Pauley Pavilion in a key Pac-8 game Saturday night.

At least Boyd has two things on his side. He is the only coach to ever defeat UCLA at Pauley and his Trojan team is coming off a long break for semester exams.

Rest helpful

"I would like to think our time off will be helpful," Boyd said at a writer's luncheon earlier this week. "We must divorce ourselves from recent defeats and look at this game at Pauley as an opportunity."

"Our players know we're not going to go to UCLA and win by 25 points," Boyd continued. "In fact, the reverse could happen. But to a man, our players believe they can win. Things will have to go our way if we're going to win and it's up to us to put an effective game plan together."

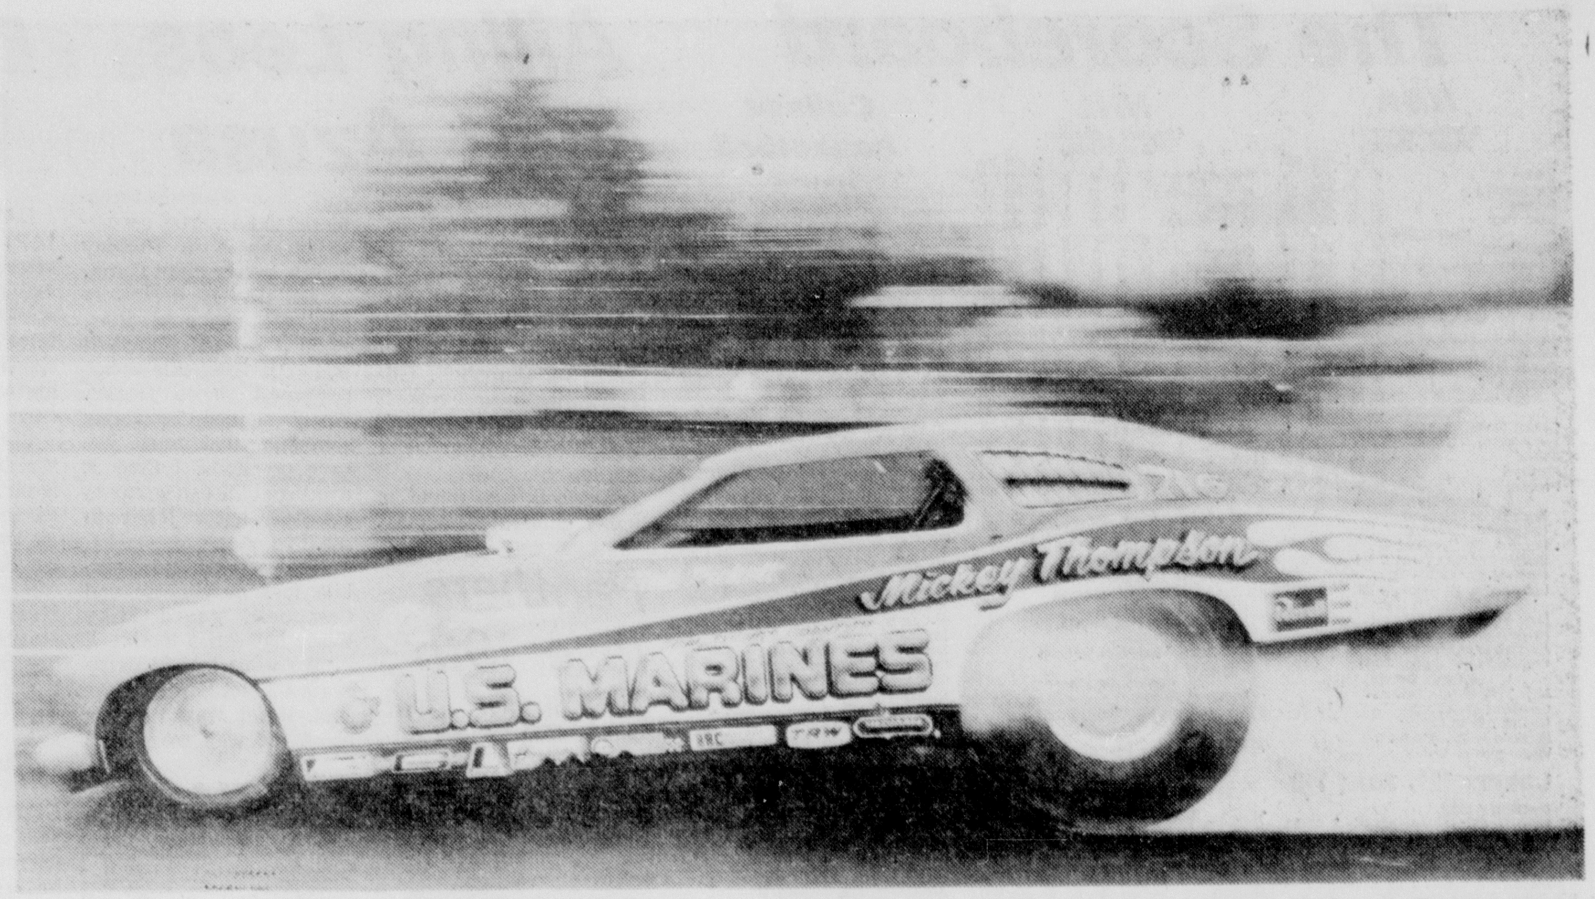
Boyd doesn't feel Pauley Pavilion is an extremely tough place for a visitor.

"I don't think the climate at Pauley is so distracting or burdensome that it puts a heavy load on the opposition," the USC coach said. "A combination of talent, the leadership of John Wooden and the influence of not wanting to be the first to lose at Pauley contributes to make a win streak like that possible."

Boyd mentioned that UCLA has played its toughest opponents on the road this season.

"Indiana would have caved their head in - in St. Louis, Pauley, Russia or anywhere — on that particular game," he said.

USC is in a spoiler's role now.



RACE READY — Bob Pickett of Granada Hills will pilot Mickey Thompson's U. S. Marine drag car in the NHRA Winternationals at the L. A. County Fairgrounds in Pomona this weekend.

Marines invade drag races

Progress Bulletin
Sports
Pomona, California ■ Thursday, January 29, 1976

The trailer carrying the race car was parked across the street from the Park Ave. branch of the Pomona Post office Tuesday.

The car bore the legend "U.S. Marines." Above and behind it that car owner Mickey Thompson. Inside the Speidell building there is a Marine recruiting office as well as a branch post office.

The car was there only temporarily. Beginning today, it is at the Fairgrounds where it will be qualified and run in the 16th annual NHRA Winternationals.

Technical inspection and qualifying is slated both today and Friday. Tech inspection will go on all day from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Qualifications were scheduled from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. today and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. First round eliminations are set to start at 2 p.m. Friday.

Class eliminations start at 10 a.m. Saturday with qualifying to continue.

Sunday's schedule calls for time trials from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. followed by a parade at 10:30 a.m. and Final eliminations to begin at 11 a.m.

Virtually every superstar in drag racing is entered. The lineup includes former World Champions Gary Beck and Jerry Ruth in Top Fuel, reigning Winston World Champ Don Prudhomme, Ray Beadle, Ed McCulloch, Jim Liberman, Gene Snow and Tom McEwen.

Two-time World Champion Bob Glidden, Bill "Grumpy Jenkins," and Wayne Gapp top the list in Pro Stock. All told more than 600 performers will be there.

The top performers in the nine months of drag racing competition will split more than $2.6 million in posted prize money and $150,000 in bonuses.

Featured classes in the Winternationals are top fuel, funny car, pro stock and pro comp. Champions will also be crowned in four semipro categories.

Bob Pickett, now the driver of Thompson's car, said that in 1969 he tried to build a car like Thompson's winning 1969 drag car which competed in the popular and competitive "funny car" class.

Pickett, six years later, can now laugh about his near disastrous experience. He said that he got the idea to copy the Thompson machine after he saw a descriptive feature article in an automotive publication.

He asked his attractive wife Genny to take additional close-up photos of the Thompson championship car at the races. After viewing the photos and doing additional research, Pickett had the specifications and away he went with the building of his Javelin that he eventually called "Mr. Pickett." The finished race vehicle was beautiful and according to Pickett it handled great, except for one important detail. The car needed a spoiler to keep the fast moving racer on the ground . . . and that is where the similarity between the copy and the original differed. Going through the timing lights at 200 mph Pickett's creation became airborne hurling the new vehicle and driver more than 150 feet in the air.

Pickett was lucky to escape with his life. However, a broken back put him out of the racing business for some time.

But his racing enthusiasm was not daunted, and he continued to build and drive two more funny cars . . . which by the way are anything but "funny" with their 1600 horsepower-producing power plants.

The highlight of Bobby Pickett's career came last April when he signed on with one of the greatest names in auto racing history, Mickey Thompson.

Pickett said his new ride is a dream of a lifetime and Thompson is equally pleased and impressed with the enthusiastic California driver.

Pickett opened the 1976 season by capturing a win at the Annual Premiere of Drag Racing at Irwindale Raceway and is prepared to face the toughest competition in the nation this weekend.

Lakers almost blow a big lead

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — There was good news and bad news at the Forum Wednesday night.

The good news was that the Lakers won (121-118) and climbed back to the .500 mark for the season.

The bad news was that once again they failed, failed miserably, to play 48 minutes of even adequate basketball. And they look less and less like a playoff-bound team.

For 30 minutes they were good on both offense and defense. For the final 18 they were (choose one) (a) poor, (b) bad, (c) terrible, (d) inept, (e) inadequate (f) awful.

Leading by 26 points, 81-55, midway through the third quarter, the Lakers collapsed. With Paul Westphal leading the way, the Phoenix Suns outscored the Angelenos, 63-40, in the final 19:10.

Westphal, the former USC star, actually was on the bench because of four fouls the entire third period. But he was blazing hot when the fourth quarter began. The Lakers' lead had been pared to 16 points, 95-79, by then.

The former Boston Celtic scored 20 of his 30 points in the final stanza including 13 in a row to bring the suns to within two points, 117-115, with 1:46 left in the game.

That left it up to the Lakers' super center, Kareem Abdul Jabbar, to stave off the sizzling Suns. Jabbar blocked three Phoenix shots and threw in one of his patented "sky hooks" to preserve the Lakers win.

The winners' locker room was more like a loser's after the game. Coach Bill Sharman, as usual, was unsmiling.

"Well, we almost had a laugher," he said grabbing at a straw. "In the first half we showed a great deal of intensity and enthusiasm. But in the second half we lost the boards, had careless passing, played out of control, lost our running game and basically had an inconsistent performance."

That was the game in a nutshell.

Sharman's crew scored 39 points in the first quarter shooting an incredible 68.2 percent (15 of 22). Meanwhile, the Suns were as bad as the Lakers were good. The visitors hit on only 23 percent of their shots (6-of-26).

This was at least partially due to Sharman's defensive matchups which saw Jabbar taking on the forwards, Curtis Perry and Dick Van Arsdale and throw up a stone wall around the basket.

It was 70-48 at the half and the Lakers had hit 55 percent of their shots to Phoenix' 35.6.

Rookie center Alvan Adams of the Suns retired from the game with 4:08 remaining in the first quarter. Adams had suffered back muscle spasm and did not return.

Adams, who was elected to the NBA All-Star team, had been averaging 20 points a game of late. His average had risen to 18.9 and against the Lakers, it was 29 points a game.

Van Arsdale was playing in place of former Laker Keith Erickson. Erickson has possible cartilege damage in his right knee and the reoccurence of his old back problem. He made the trip with the Suns in order to be examined by Dr. Robert Kerlan to determine if surgery (on his knee) is necessary.

The fact that both Adams and Erickson were, to all intent and purpose, missing (Adams scored only two points in his eight minutes) makes the Suns' comeback and near win all the more impressive.

It also makes the Laker win much less impressive. .

Sharman shook his head at the abrupt change in the Lakers in the game.

"This had been our problem most of the season, especially late in the game," he said. "Of the 10 real close games we've had, we've lost eight.

"Belive me, the bad breaks we've been getting at the end of the games are unreal. I haven't seen the likes of them in 20 years of basketball."

Part of the reason for the collapse against the Suns could be attributed to a natural letup after building up such a huge lead. But the Lakers suffer such "letups" consistently and lose frequently.

Another possibility is that the Lakers appeared to tire. This should NOT have happened. There was no reason why it should happen and it NEVER has been a trademark of Sharman teams.

LAKER LEFTOVERS — The "announced attendance" was 11,375. Many of them, as Chick Hearn would say, were dressed as empty seats. Actual attendance was more like 7,500.

Cornell Warner had another excellent first quarter. Warner hit on his first six shots and had 10 of his 16 points in the period.

Hearn has come to the conclusion that the thing the Lakers need worst of all is a floor leader such as Jerry West was.

Lucius Allen tried to get into a fist fight with the Suns' John Wetzel in the third period. Wetzel accidentally (he said) got Allen in the throat with a back arm swing. The 6-2 Lakers guard took several swings at the 6-5 Wetzel who simply walked away and would not fight back. Up to that point, it was the most interesting thing that had happened.

Melnik voted top athlete

Powerful Faina Melnik of the Soviet Union, the world record holder in the discus, was an overwhelming choice as women's athlete of the year according to a poll conducted by Women's Track and Field World Magazine.

Publisher Vince Reel announced the vote Wednesday in Claremont. A panel of 41 track experts from 26 nations took part in the voting.

Miss Melnik, long dominant in discus throwing, established a world mark of 230 feet 4 inches last year. She earned 25 first place votes and 154 points from the panel to outdistance East Germany's tall shot put champion Marianne Adam.

The attractive 6-foot-1 Miss Adam set a world shot put mark of 70-10½ last year, just three weeks after Miss Melnik set her mark. Miss Adam wound up with 68 points and was second in the balloting.

Eight of the top 10 women athletes were from Eastern European nations and no North American athlete received a single vote in athlete of the year balloting.

Third in voting was Norway's Grete Andersen, who set a world mark for the 3,000-meter run, 8:46.6. Two weeks later she was married and is now Grete Waitz.

Fourth was Poland's slender sprint star Irena Szewisnka, iollowed by three East German women — high jumper Rosemarie Witschas Ackermann, javelin thrower Ruth Fuchs and sprinter Renate Stecher.

Price fights Barro tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Ryan O'Neil, Burt Reynolds and Lee Majors in attendance it might look more like a Hollywood premier than a routine welterweight fight.

In tonight's main event at the Olympic Auditorium, Andy "The Hawk" Price meets Rudy Barro of the Philippines. Reynolds and Majors are co-managers of Price and O'Neil will be ringside with his co-star Reynolds in a film they are now making.

Price, an up-and-coming welterweight fighter with a 19-1 record, hopes for revenge against Barro, 51-7, for on Feb. 7, 1974, Barro stopped Price in two rounds. It was Andy's only loss to date.

Price is a slight favorite in the fight.

Big payoff at S.A.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Olive Wreath, off at 108 to 1, rallied to the outside on the final turn and won a thrilling duel with Dancing Femme to capture the $35,750 Pasadena Stakes for 3-year-old fillies Wednesday at Santa Anita Park.

Olive Wreath, who had won one of two previous starts in her career, won by a head in a photo finish. Dancing Femme finished a nose in front of Windy Welcome.

Backers of Olive Wreath were paid $217.80, $50.40 and $16. It was the fifth highest payoff in the track's history.

Ridden by jockey Kenny Skinner and carrying 114 pounds, Olive Wreath was such a longshot because of the presence of such stakes winners as Queen to Be and Doc Shah's Siren as well as the favorite, Hail Hilarious, in the field of 11.

The longshot was sixth as the field raced along the backstretch and she was still fourth as she went to the outside on the far turn. Coming into the final stretch, however, Olive Wreath was clear of other horses as she battled Dancing Femme for the lead.

It was a neck-and-neck battle and Olive Wreath never actually led until the final two strides.

Final time for the six furlong race was a fast 1:10, and thrust Olive Wreath into the Derby picture for 1976.

Dancing Femme, with Fernando Toro aboard, paid $9.60 and $5.20. Windy Welcome, with Sandy Hawley, paid $4.60.

Mounties hold off OCC rally

COSTA MESA — Mt. San Antonio College fought off a pesky Orange Coast five here Wednesday night to score an important 54-51 win in South Coast Conference basketball action.

The Mounties were unable to shale the OCC team, as the contest went right down to the wire with the Mounties holding on to a narrow lead.

Orange Coast rallied from a 50-43 deficit in the late going to close within one at 52-51, but Dave Walsh missed a free throw which had resulted from a technical foul on the Mounties' Duaine Harding. The Pirates retained possession, but forward Tom Pokorski forced a turnover and Angel Santiago scored on a layup with 30 seconds left to ice the win for MSAC.

The Mounties had fallen behind 10-4 at the start of the contest, but used a deliberate offense to take a 32-31 halftime lead. From there they built up their advantage until the late OCC charge.

The win keeps MSAC tied with Santa Ana for the top spot in the South Coast Conference. Santa Ana edged defending SCC champ Cerritos 66-64 Wednesday night, giving the Dons a 4-0 league mark, the same at MSAC. Cerritos is now 3-2 in SCC play.

Pokorski and Santiago both finished with 16 points to top the Mountie scoring. Harding was held to only six points, but led both teams with 16 rebounds. Pokorski and Santiago both had 11 boards.

Walsh was the top Pirate point getter with 17, teammate Phil Bolden adding 16 in a losing cause.

Coach Gene Victor's Mounties will return home for a Saturday night contest against San Diego Mesa. Mesa, 0-4 in the SCC and 9-10 overall, lost to Grossmont Wednesday night. The MSAC-Mesa contest will start at 7:30 p.m. at the Mountie gym.

Panthers lose 19th

SAN DIEGO — Host Southwestern College outscored Chaffey 15-0 midway through the second half here Wednesday night to erase a 60-57 Panther lead and chaulk up a 77-73 basketball triumph.

The loss for Chaffey was the school's 19th of the year without a win. The Panthers fell to a 0-5 Mission Conference record, while Southwestern continues to lead that league with a 5-0 mark.

Roland Stalworth did the Panthers in single-handedly, as he came off the bench to score 32 points.

Chaffey was led by freshman guard LeRoy Fowler, who canned 22. Forward Brian Jacobs added 13 and pulled down 16 rebounds.

The Panthers hit 34 of 60 field goal attempts in the contest, to 32 of 67 for the hosts. However, Southwestern benefitted from 27 free throw attempts to only six for Chaffey, converting 13 of those to five for the visitors in what proved to be the difference in the game.

Chaffey will try to pick up win no. one on the season Saturday night against San Bernardino Valley College at home. SBVC, like Chaffey, is 0-5 in the Mission Conference.

Pearsons race together

It's family fun

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson, after more than 20 years in auto racing, feels he should spend more time with his family. So he plans to spend this weekend with his son Larry—in a race car.

The father-son outing will be the 15th annual 24 Hours of Daytona endurance race, which starts its twice around the clock run Saturday at 3 p.m.

It will be young Larry's first introduction to Daytona International Speedway's fabled high banks, but it won't be the first time he's raced. He's even raced against his famous father—and won.

That was in a Baby Grand stock car race last year at Charlotte, N.C. The narrow victory was widely ballyhooed, but Larry plays it down.

"He could have beat me in that race if he wanted to," insisted the freckle-faced 22-yearold Wednesday. "He pulled up even with me on the backstretch and laughed at me."

At another race Larry won at Rockingham, N.C. last year, his father paid him a visit in Victory Circle. "He didn't say anything, but you could tell he was happy," Larry said.

The Pearsons prepared to take a few practice laps in the car, which is so new neither had even seen it before it was rolled out Wednesday to pit road.

"My sponsor wanted me to drive it," said NASCAR's alltime leading superspeedway winner, who wasn't that keen on the idea originally. "I thought it would be fun to drive with Larry. I can communicate with him real well."

Pearson relented Jan. 18 at a Riverside, Calif., Grand National race. The first thing Larry heard about it was when his father telephoned to ask if the eldest of his three sons would codrive.

"I didn't need much time to make up my mind," Larry said.

The opening day of practice Wednesday ended before either could take practice laps. That would have to wait until today, when qualifying for the first 10 starting positions in the $100,000 race was also scheduled.

None of the other cars in the new NASCAR Grand International stock car class with the Pearsons made appearances Wednesday.

Of the other cars which did, mostly in the Grand Touring category, John Greenwood was fastest in his Super Corvette. Greenwood's awesome 650-horsepower creation rumbled cautiously around the 3.84-mile road course in one minute, 56.9 seconds, an average of 118.253 miles per hour.

Peter Gregg, the over-all winner here in the last two 24 Hours races, and co-driver Brian Redman were almost a full second slower in BMWs.

Greenwood's driven his car six miles an hour faster here— and even then said he was just loafing. Its top speed, he said, is about 240 mph.

'Celtic pride' beats Atlanta

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics have won 12 National Basketball Association championships with a basketful of talent, but their biggest asset through the years has been something intangible.

It's called "pride"—and that's what the Celtics used to beat the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night, according to Cotton Fitzsimmons.

"Celtics pride turned it around," said the Atlanta coach after losing a 110-99 decision at the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

"They were ripe for a beating. We had a tough game in New York Tuesday night, but I felt if we could control the tempo we had a good chance. We did—right up to the third period.

"They broke our patterns with their pushing and shoving. The difference in the game was Celtics' pride. They won. It's no reflection on our team. We are young and don't have a history like the Celtics."

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn was less romantic in his asssessment of the game.

"Paul Silas and John Havlicek turned the rhyttm around for us in the third period," he said. "That gave us momentum. After we gained the lead, Steve Kuberski and Glenn McDonald came in and broke it open. They got us running."

In the other NBA games, the Houston Rockets beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 108-93; the Chicago Bulls stopped the Detroit Pistons 87-84; the Buffalo Braves outscored the New Orleans Jazz 126-112; the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Phoenix Suns 121-118 and the Portland Trail Blazers whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 124-104.

Havlicek and Charlie Scott led a balanced attack with 17 points each and Boston erupted for 69 points in the second half as the Celtics posted their fourth consecutive victory and seventh in the last eight games.

Rockets 108, Cavaliers 93

Houston, led by Calvin Murphy, outscored Cleveland 17-2 in the first five minutes of the third quarter and rallied to beat the Cavaliers. Murphy scored 25 points overall.

Bulls 87, Pistons 84

Jack Marin hit 11 of his 16 points in the fourth quarter to help Chicago beat Detroit. The victory was only the 14th in 45 games for the Bulls, who have the poorest record in the league.

Braves 126, Jazz 112

Randy scored 34 points, Bob McAdoo 31 and Jim McMillian 26 to lead Buffalo past New Orleans.

Trail Blazers 124, Super-Sonics 104

Reserves spark Bonita victory

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

Reserve guards Keith Brandt and Scott Nichols came off the Bonita bench Wednesday night at Gladstone High, providing some much-needed life to a stagnant Bearcat offense in leading the visitors to a 67-56 victory over the Gladiators.

The Bearcats, who entered the contest as the top offensive club in the Hacienda league, (67.8) trailed by a 6-2 score at the 2:52 mark of the first quarter, and "rallied" to an 8-7 deficient at the close of the stanza.

Brandt and Nichols promptly entered the contest and propelled the bearcat's to a 23-12 advantage midway through the second period. The tiny (5-foot-5) Nichols popped in four points and passed off for two assists during this run, while Brandt (6-1) scored two, totaled three assists, and forced four Gladiator turnovers. Brandt finished with 10 markers, four assists, and six steals.

"That Brandt and that Nichols, they really did the job, didn't they?", grinned Bearcat skipper Remi Tremblay. "I have no doubts when I put them in, because I know they'll come through."

The two reserves also played a big part in the second half, when Bonita racked up 42 points to the Gladiators 31, after the two clubs had gone into the locker-room at intermission tied at 25-25.

Gladstone committed 16 turnovers in the final 16 minutes (nine in the third period) and wound up the contest with 30 gifts.

"We came out in a 2-3 (defense) zone to start the third quarter," chipped in Tremblay. "We hadn't used it in league yet this year, but obviously it worked out quite well."

The matchup, to the surprise of few, was a typical Bonita-Gladstone battle, which is, to say the least, very physical. There were only 29 fouls whistled in the game, which was clearly unexplainable as far as both coaches were concerned.

"Yes, it was a tough game," admitted Tremblay, "But there's going to be three more in a row (Walnut, Alta Loma and Ontario). But my guys are tough."

Bearcat center Steve Sly (The PB's Valley Player of the Week) poured in 25 points and pulled down 12 rebounds to lead both clubs. Sly also blocked six Gladiator shots. Forward Aaron Bitran had 16 markers, and also had 12 boards. Wing-man Steve Benoit accumulated 10 points and 10 rebounds.

Guard Greg Sieger led the Glads with 16 markers, followed by center Bill Cavenaugh, who cashed in 15 points and led his team with 10 caroms.

Bonita (6-1, 13-5) connected on 43 per cent of its field goal attempts, totaled 39 boards, and shot hot 76 per cent from the free throw line. Gladstone (4-3, 10-8) managed 38 per cent from the floor, and wound up with 38 caroms.

The Bearcats will host Bill Murray and his Walnut Mustangs (3-4, 7-12) Friday night at the Bonita gym, while the Glads will travel to Royal Oak (3-4, 6-11). Both games have an 8 p.m. tipoff.

Ontario edges Walnut

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

A steal by Ontario High's Mickey Donaldson with nine seconds to play cemented a 68-63 Hacienda League win for the Jaguars over Walnut Wednesday afternoon at Ontario's gym.

It might sound strange that it took a clutch steal to wrap up a five-point win, but the visiting Mustangs were in the contest right down to the wire.

In fact the score was tied at 63 with one minute remaining when the Jags got the ball out of bounds. Donaldson hit what proved to be the winning basket 12 seconds later and it looked as though teammate Otis Manning might sew up the game when he stole the ball and headed for the hoop.

But Manning traveled en route and the Mustangs got the ball out of bounds with 37 seconds left.

Donaldson then grabbed the rebound from an errant Walnut shot with 16 seconds to play and was fouled. He made the first of one-and-one opportunity and missed the second, making it 66-63, and the Mustangs controlled the rebound with 13 seconds showing.

But Donaldson came up with his steal four seconds later and teammate Freddy Vigil made two free throw to finalize the scoring.

"With about 16 seconds left it still wasn't over," said Jaguar coach Larry Larson. "But Mickey's steal took care of it."

The win pulled Ontario (4-3 in league play, 9-9 overall) into a tie for third place with Gladstone, a 67-56 loser to Bonita Wednesday.

Walnut saw its three-game losing streak snapped and its record fell to 3-4 after the first round of Hacienda League play, 7-12 overall.

"We hope to do better in the second round," said Larson. "It looks like Alta Loma (7-0) and Bonita (6-1) have the first two spots locked up, but it should be a real scramble for third.

"We didn't look good today," Larson continued. "We were really slow. If we had played as well as we played against Alta Loma, we would have beaten them (the Mustangs) by 20 points."

Ontario lost to Alta Loma, 69-61, Friday night.

Center Andre Edwards made 19 points for the Mustangs, and guards Kelly Bowlin and Jeff Davis added 10 apiece.

Edwards was the game's leading rebounder with 17. He personally dominated the second quarter, when he scored 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Walnut led, 14-13, after a quarter, but increased the margin to seven points, 34-29, at the half.

The Jags were down by five before they reeled off 12 straight points late in the third quarter and early in the fourth for a 53-46 lead.

Walnut caught Ontario at 55 and the teams traded baskets until Mustangs reserve Hans Meyer made it 63-63 with a basket at 1:04.

Ontario will host Sierra Vista Friday while Walnut visits Bonita. Both games will begin at 8 p.m.

O'Grady set for Lopez

INGLEWOOD — Sean O'Grady, the Green Machine from Oklahoma City, upped his record to 28 straight wins last week, by stopping Kenny Connors in his home town.

O'Grady now has 24 knockouts and has his sights set on Danny Lopez as his next ring victim.

The 18-year-old Irishman and Lopez meet at the Forum, Wednesday, February 25 in a featherweight 10-rounder.

Ranked number nine among the bantamweights by the World Boxing Association, O'Grady will be facing his sternest test to date when he takes on Lopez, who has ko'ed 27 out of 28 rivals.

Co-featured on the Forum's initial fight program of the year is Lupe Pintor, a tremendous puncher from Mexico City. Pintor, who has 12 knockouts out of 14 wins, opposes Alberto Davila.

'Pack booters rout Cowboys

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

From all appearances, the Claremont High soccer team has jelled.

The Wolfpack booters, highly regarded in preseason polls, encountered some tough sledding and three losses in the early going this year, but proved once again Wednesday afternoon that they are the class of the San Antonio League with a 7-0 shelling of league foe Chino.

The game was supposed to be a hotly-contested battle for first place in the SAL, but coach Otto Rieger's squad executed to perfection in scoring the easy win.

The Cowboys came into the game with a unbeaten 4-0-2 SAL mark, and moved the ball effectively in the opening few minutes against the 'Pack. In fact, Chino had a couple chances to score in the opening half which could have turned the tide in their favor.

However, once the Claremont attack got warmed up it proved to be devastating. Jerry Van Zee's perfect pass to Jim Todd, who was set up in front of the Chino goal, resulted in the opening score, as Todd booted the ball past Cowboy goalie Ray Chavez.

That started a parade of Claremont goals, as, in rapid order, Phil Banks banged one home from a Bob Scarcia assist, Gregg Kaufman hit the nets after taking a perfect lead pass from Banks, and Scarcia scored on a corner kick, curving the ball past the Chino defenders.

Yet another Claremont first half goal was disallowed by an off-side infraction, as the 'Pack finished the first twenty minutes with a big 4-0 lead and was well on its way to its sixth SAL victory against no losses and one tie (to Damien).

Despite the fact that Rieger substituted freely in the second half, things got progressively worse for the Cowboys.

The visitors were unable to mount a comeback rally, and halfway through the final half Todd put the lid on the win by taking a Kaufman pass and booting the ball into the nets past the by-now bewildered Chavez.

Goals by Scott Kegans and Dave Anderson in the closing moments rounded out the scoring for the afternoon.

On the game, Claremont attempted 20 shots on goal to Chino's seven. Of those 20, seven resulted in scores, ten had to be stopped by Chavez, and only three were off-target. Rieger was most happy with that kind of shooting.

"That's really the key," the Claremont coach pointed out. "If we can execute that well and be that selective and accurate with our shots, we can start playing like we are capable of.

In other SAL action, Damien took over second place in the loop by blanking Pomona 3-0 behind two goals by Brian Sullivan and one score by Ruben Lopez. Damien finished the first round with a 4-0-3 record, compared to Chino's 4-1-3.

Montclair also looked impressive Wednesday, as the Cavs scored a 3-0 win over Upland. Rick Adams continued his high-scoring ways with all three Montclair goals.

Joe Sills maintains P-B lead

Cal Poly's Joe Sills and Tom Ispas retained their leads in scoring and assists in the PB basketball derby for four-year colleges.

Sills still leads teammate Jack Gamulin by three points a game. Ispas is averaging nearly an assist per game more than Pomona-Pitzer's Scott Pease.

Tim Gillette of La Verne increased his rebounding lead over second place Paul Newton of Poly.

Pomona-Pitzer's fine freshman center, Ed McFadden, made his first appearance among the scoring leaders. The Sagehens' Steve Pinkston bounced back into contention with 32 points in two games last week.

Hacienda League roundup

Saints, Braves win

San Dimas High won its first basketball game of the year Wednesday afternoon with a 50-48 thriller at Sierra Vista.

The Saints, who had lost 16 straight games, six of them Hacienda League contests, beat the Dons with a pair of free throws by center Dale Johnson with five seconds on the clock.

San Dimas led, 27-25, at the half and held a six-point advantage with less than two minutes remaining in the game. But Sierra Vista guard Albert Solis, the games' leading scorer with 19, tied the score at 48 with the first shot of a one-and-one free throw chance with 23 seconds left.

But Solis missed his second try, and Johnson was fouled 18 seconds later.

Mike Shepherd led the Saints with 18 points and Mark Klein added 10. Johnson had seven, Steve Loumagne added eight and Alan Hanson had six.

Forward Ray Bribiesca tallied 15 for the Dons.

While the Saints were winning their first game of the season, Alta Loma's Braves were wrapping up their 12th straight.

Even though playing without the services of forward Anthony Vasquez, who injured his arm in practice Monday, the Braves blitzed hosting Royal Oak, 22-10, in the first quarter and then coasted to a 69-49 win.

Rich Davis, Jamie Eagle and John Conger each scored six points for Alta Loma in that first period.

Eagle, with eight of 13 field goal attempts led the Braves with 16 points and Davis added 14. Forward Bill Cavanaugh scored 14 for the Romans.

Forward Jeff Anderson caught 12 rebounds and reserve center Dan Miller added 11 as the Braves dominated the boards, 44-32.

Davis blocked five shots, Eagle blocked three and had seven steals and Matt Roberts was credited with five assists.

Alta Loma, 7-0 in league play, 18-1 overall, made 44 per cent of its shots while Royal Oak managed just 25 per cent.

Royal Oak is 3-4, 6-10.

San Dimas will travel to San Dimas Friday at 8 p.m. while Sierra Vista visits Ontario.

Broncos host swim relays

Cal Poly's swim team will host the annual Cal Poly Relays this Friday and Saturday in the Bronco pool. The action will begin at 10 a.m. on Friday with the 1-meter diving pre-lims, and on Saturday at 9 a.m. with the 1650 freestyle event.

Competing schools include Cal Poly Pomona, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Pomona-Pitzer, Claremont Mudd, Occidental, Whittier, Pepperdine, UC Santa Barbara, UC San Diego, UC Irvine, San Diego State, CS Los Angeles, Fresno State, and CS Northridge.

Several top swimmers and divers in the country will be competing both days. They include John Larson of CS Northridge, who holds the college division II national record in the 100-yard butterfly; Mike Figueroa of UC Irvine, the defending national champion (college division II) in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke; Art Ruble of Fresno, who was a member of the United States team in the 1975 Pan American games; Rick Hoss of CS Los Angeles, who is the AAU national diving champion in the 15-18 age group.

THE CLAREMONT ADULT SOCCER LEAGUE could be better described as the Sunday fun league when you take a deeper look into its aim and setup. Right off the bat (if you'll excuse the old baseball expression) you'll have to realize the combatants' ages range from 18 all the way up to 59 . . . and that should create a fun atmosphere right away. For some.

A few of the weekend warriors are former pros . . . from Britain, Europe, Latin America, New York and St. Louis who are not performing on legs which carried them to past glory, for sure, but they dig in just like they hadn't left their legs and stamina back on those distant fields.

A percentage of the players played school or sandlot and some never kicked a soccer ball previously but when Claremont professor Larry Cohen decided jogging and tennis wasn't taxing his 39 year old legs sufficiently he turned to soccer and ignited about 70 varied ex-and-never-was athletes (or is that "never-were" athletes, Professor?) to turn up at El Roble School Field for some Sunday fun.

The premium is not on winning and there are no league standings kept nor even teams named other than by Team No. 1 etc and it works out well. Everybody guns it to his individual limit of ability and that can be a soccer GRAND CANYON when the 59-year old is trying to catch up with the 18 year old flash. The only benefit is often circulation.

Sometimes you don't even play with your designated team and it doesn't make much difference to anybody. If you're freer for the early game than the late game . . . then that's the game you play in.

The range of methods of making a living vary from Doc Davis, the recently elected president of Pomona Valley Community Hospital (you can see where Damien star Rick Davis gets his sturdy physique) to piano tuner Al Acevedo who oddly enough is a design engineer and AYSO coach and a commissioner in Pomona soccer. Teammate Paul Corsaro is also a design engineer and AYSO coach and at age 28 sometimes plays both games when a vacancy occurs . . . and vacancies occur from plain old leg tiredness and wind shortage.

The roll call moves on . . . Howard Springer at 37 is an engineer at General Dynamics; Dave Cox, 29, is at Claremont Graduate School; Rich Stevens is a biochemist; John Elliott a lawyer; Tom Blackburn professes at Cal Poly; Carl Brodt another CGS student; Steve Davis coaches the Claremont-Mudd College team and contributes articles on soccer to coaching publications; Tony Papa, a half a century old, is veep of a finance company; Dennis Reid from the banking world hails from Jamaica; the youthful James boys . . . Dennis and Terry . . . run shamelessly amuck on legs that don't tire . . . as do Bruno Moncinelli and Frank Mallozzi.

Ex-pros Dave Hughlock and Dietor Dammeier give up the referees whistle to pursue the black-dotted ball as far as conditions permit. Hughlock's response to a hard pass way up the middle requiring a 30-yd sprint, was "Hey, Man . . . I'm 40 years old!" . . . he just looked at it.

It's a contributory circuit . . . Claremont High coach Otto Rieger shows up once in a while to ref or make a few passes; Pomona-Pitzer coaches Don Zenger, Don Bentley and Steve Glass toot the whistle when they can help out; and Detlef Ott goes in for a few forays when he puts down his camera. The father/son combo of Karl Heim and Karl, Jr. display some pretty passing . . . all great fun and not without its challenge.

The first half season ended last Sunday and Larry Cohen wants all interested in "staying toned" to call 624-7064 by Feb. 8 so the second half of the Sunday Fun League can get moving. The $3 fee goes for balls . . . and so far there was $132 contributed to the Claremont High soccer program. Give Larry a call . . . he should be recovered by now.

SAN ANTONIO HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE action is beginning to settle into its mold. Ron Vosper's Pomona High players and Ahmed Badawi's Ganesha kickers made it possible for the Claremont Wolfpack to go into first place for the first time this season by hanging ties onto leaders Chino and tough Damien, respectively, while Claremont blanked Montclair in games of Jan. 23.

After six games, Claremont shows a half-game edge over Chino and a full game over Damien. Chino buses to Claremont (Jan. 28) in an issue-settling confrontation. The Cowboys have to win to get back on top. Up to Jan. 28 the slate shows Claremont leading with 11 pts., Chino 10, Damien 9, Pomona and Upland tied with 5, Garey 4, Ganesha 3 and Montclair 1. Watch the Prog for Wednesday and Friday schedules.

CHAFFEY AND WEBB each claim first spot in Citrus Belt action and will try to clarify the issue Feb. 2 when John Heyes' uphill boys show up at Chaffey with guns at the ready. They tied the last time around.

FIFTY MILES FURTHER WEST, AYSO delegates from 10 states will be congregating at the Sheraton Airport Hotel for the Semi-Annual General Meeting. This two-day session will be for the purpose of setting up workshops which will pave the way for the Annual General Meeting to be held in May.

The newest city to join the AYSO family is Muncy, Pennsylvania (a suburb of Williamsport). AYSO has projected 4,700 teams for the coming season, a figure which may be attainable when one realizes the ever increasing number of cities and states that are joining the largest youth soccer organization in the U.S. In 1965 this same organization had a membership of only nine teams with equally frugal finances; today, it is responsible for a million dollar operation that relies more and more on computers than lead pencils.

The amazing thing about AYSO's operation is that it is being carried out by an Executive Board on a strictly volunteer basis. It was not until last July that a full-time Executive Director was appointed to coordinate the administrative functions for AYSO.

THE 1975-76 AYSO soccer season is drawing to a close, and preparations are being made for team championship playoffs and all-star playoffs. Last Tuesday Area "G" Director Al Vecchio summoned the Regional Commissioners for a public meeting to pair off contenders for both crowns. The winners of Area "G" will vie for the national crowns against other Area winners. The opening salvos are scheduled for February 28. League Championship playoff games will be played on Saturdays and All-Star playoffs slated for Sundays.

The hosting cities for team championship playoffs are: Diamond Bar — Div. 6 boys and Div. 4 girls; Ontario — Div. 5 boys; Upland — Div. 4 boys and Div. 3 girls; Chino — Div. 3 boys and Div. 2 girls; Pomona — will host all finals on March 20.

The hosting cities for ALL-STAR playoffs are: Hacienda Heights — Div. 6 boys; A.C.E. (Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda) — Div. 5 boys and Div. 3 girls; Claremont — Div. 4 boys and Div. 4 girls; Pomona — Div. 3 boys and Div. 2 girls; Claremont will host all finals on March 21.

Last week Upland AYSO held a benefit dance which drew a capacity crowd and proved to be a total success. This Saturday the supporters of A.C.E. will remove the cleats from their dancing shoes to enjoy dancing to the music of the Berger Brothers. This benefit dance will be held at Monte Vista Lodge (Euclid & 25th) and only 400 pennies will buy you a ticket.

Pomona AYSO is topping off their year with a wine-tasting party on Friday, February 6 at 7 p.m. at Brookside Winery. Seven wines will be tasted (7 is the minimum number of players allowed to start a game), there will be hors d'oeuvres (a French soccer team?), and door prizes will be given. $6.00 couples — $3.50 singles.

SUNDAY FUN — Doc Davis, back to camera, and Dennis James are seen in action in a game during Sunday's Claremont Adult Soccer League where fun is the big winner.

Fergersons eye Olympics

MIRA LOMA, Calif. (AP) — The "Flying Fergersons" are neither a cargo airline nor a trapeze act. But they may just be the fastest family in the world.

The Fergersons, who live in this small town some 50 miles east of Los Angeles, believe the family that can run together has fun together, and Bill Fergerson, a widower, has reared his nine children with that in mind.

The Fergersons, who used to live in Pomona and Diamond Bar, may be the only family track club in existence. Calling themselves the West Coast Jets, they've earned a reputation as top-notch competitors.

Bill, 64, said that while he has never pushed his five daughters and four sons into competitive running, he was always ready to give them coaching if they wanted.

The results have been quite spectacular. Two of Fergerson's daughters, Willa Mae and Mable, are world class sprinters. Tim, the oldest son, is an accomplished distance runner, and Vernon and Vernell, Fergerson's twin sons, are potential Olympic sprinters.

Bill said he first became interested in running when he was a kid in Brooklyn. "I used to go to Jamaica, N.Y., to chase rabbits," he said. "I'd catch them and sell them."

Fergerson began running for rabbits, but his children run for medals, trophies and in, Mable's case, for money.

The Fergersons, who work out afternoons at a local high school, are aiming for the AAU Nationals in June and berths on the U.S. Olympic team that will compete in Montreal.

Willa Mae and Mable have been to the Olympics before. Mable, 20, was a silver medal winner as part of the 1,600-meter relay team in the '72 Games in Munich before signing with the professional International Track Association.

Willa Mae, who won a national championship with a 10.6 clocking for 100 meters in 1970, was an alternate on both relay teams in Munich.

Bill says that son Tim, 24, a Cal Poly Pomona student, may be the comer of the group. "He's been fighting it out for the last six years and he's just coming into his own. He's made so much improvement he's going to surprise a lot of people this fall."

Vernon and Vernell have yet to make their marks nationally, but both have been impressive in California competition.

Vernell is the defending AAU state champion in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, with best times of 9.2 and 20.2 seconds. Vernell finished second in the 440 behind Vernon, whose best time in that event is 46.1 seconds. Vernon also finished second to his brother in the 100 and 220.

While her brothers and sisters are still working to make it, Mable has done very well. She won the national women's championship in the 400-meters when she was 16. In 1973, she established a 220-yard dash mark of 23.1 seconds, a record that still stands.

"I've been working with Mable since she was 8 years old," Bill said, "and she really turned out to be a good one."

The Fergerson family tradition goes back to 1959. "We went to a little Fourth of July all-comers meet," he said. "My boys and girls won all the trophies, and I guess that started it all.

"Now when the family goes to a meet, people say, 'Uh oh, here come the Fergersons.'"

Golden Girls set registration dates

Registration for the Montclair Golden Girls Softball League will begin this Saturday at Vernon Junior High in Montclair. Signups will be taken from 12 noon to 3 p.m. Saturday.

The Montclair Golden Girls is open to girls who are in the fourth through 12th grades and are residents of Montclair.

To register for a team, a girl must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, show proof of grade, and pay a $10 registration fee. Each additional girl in a family will play a pay fee of $5.

Additional dates for sign-ups are Feb. 5 from 6 to 9 p.m. at Mayfair Market in Montclair and Feb. 7 from noon to 3 p.m. at Vernon Junior High.

Tryouts for the teams will be held Feb. 21 and Feb. 28 at 10 a.m. at Vernon Junior High. Opening day is set for April 25, with play continuing into July.

The Montclair Golden Girls League is also seeking persons interested in managing or coaching. For further information call (714) 626-7840 or (714) 624-6971.

Claremont league sets sign-up dates

Sign-ups for the Claremont American Little League 1976 season will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 3, and Saturday, Feb. 7.

Boys and girls, ages 8 to 12 years, are eligible to register. Candidates must have been born between August 1, 1963 and July 31, 1968. A parent must attend the registration and bring a birth certificate.

Sign-ups will be taken on Tuesday, Feb. 3, from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Saturday, Feb. 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Youth Activity Center located just south of Taylor Hall in Claremont.

Boundaries of the league are: Los Angeles County line south to Mills Avenue, south on Mills to American Avenue, west on American to Indian Hill Boulevard, north on Indian Hill to the railroad tracks, west on the tracks to Mountain Avenue, north on Mountain Avenue to Foothill, west on Foothill to Towne Avenue, and north on Towne to the mountains.

The league area includes Claraboya, Rosemont Estates and Padua Hills area.

Additional information is available from George Clements at 626-2061 or Jim Kinney at 626-4146.

Little League tryouts set

The San Dimas Little League will hold tryouts on February 7, 14 and 21 at Marchant Park in San Dimas. Each tryout session will start at 9 a.m.

All youths who sign up will play, the purpose of the tryouts being to classify players by their abilities. Eight-year olds do not have to tryout.

Additional information can be obtained by calling (714) 599-4754.

Sports briefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's John Conteh will defend his World Boxing Council light heavyweight championship against Alvaro "Yaqui" Lopez of California in a March title defense at Kampala, Uganda, it was announced Wednesday.

The match will be promoted by World Wide Boxing Inc., of New York and staged by Kunick Holdings, Ltd. of London, which will hold the fight in conjunction with President Idi Amin of Uganda.

Former light heavyweight champion Bob Foster of Albuquerque, N.M. will make his ring comeback on the same card against Al Bolden of West Virginia.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Second baseman Joe Morgan has been named most valuable player on the Cincinnati Reds for the second straight year by the Cincinnati chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Morgan, who won the National League's Most Valuable Player Award by a record margin, batted .327 for the Reds last season, hit 17 home runs, with 94 runs batted in and 67 stolen bases. He set club records for most RBI in a season for a second baseman and most walks, 132.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP5 — Catcher Dennis Littlejohn, who played at Southern Cal, has been signed by the San Francisco Giants "for a substantial bonus" and assigned to the Phoenix Pacific Coast League club.

Littlejohn, 6-foot-2 and 215 pounds, left USC after his junior year to sign a professional contract. He was the Giants' first choice in the secondary phase of baseball's January draft of free agents.

INNSBRUCK, Austria — Denmark and Andorra pulled out of the 1976 Winter Olympics.

PHILADELPHIA — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors beat former U.S. Davis Cup captain Dennis Ralston 6-4, 6-0 in the $115,000 U.S. Indoor Professional Tennis Championships.

CHICAGO — Virginia Wade defeated Kathy May 6-4, 6-3 to advance to the quarter-finals in a $75,000 Women's Pro Tournament.

KANSAS CITY —Johnny Petraglia leads Earl Anthony by 76 pins after two rounds of a $75,000 Pro Bowling Tournament.

ARCADIA, Calif. — Olive Wreath, $217.80, rallied to win a thrilling duel with Dancing Femme by a head to capture the $35,750 feature at Santa Anita.

HIALEAH, Fla. — Proud Birdie, $17, upset Gay Jitterbug by a half-length in the $32,600 Bahamas Stakes at Hialeah.

NEW ORLEANS — Right To Glory, $13.60, won the feature at the Fair Grounds over Vulgar.

BOSTON — Suffolk Downs officials canceled the thoroughbred racing card due to flooding and poor track conditions.

PHILADELPHIA — Bold Who, $7, scored a one-length victory over favorite Wicked Man in the Keystone feature

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Celtics forward Don Nelson, the leading shooter in the National Basketball Association last year with a .539 field goal percentage, says he plans to retire at the end of this season; his 14th in the NBA.

Nelson, 35, said he made the decision after being told he couldn't contribute to the team like he used to.

"It had to come sooner or later," he said. "I feel I'm as good this year as I was last year, but the team has changed. The things I did successfully for the team aren't used as much as before."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Doug Gerhart and Billy Atkins have signed on with Coach Monte Clark for the task of making the San Francisco 49ers a winning National Football League team again.

Gerhart, an assistant with the Cleveland Browns last season, was hired Wednesday to coach the 49ers' receivers. Atkins will handle the defensive secondary, as he did four seasons with the Buffalo Bills.

Twitty, Jang lead Mt. Baldy Aquatics

The Mt. Baldy Aquatics team lost to Bellflower, 289½-224½ in a novice swim meet.

Doug Twitty boys (7-8) and Curtis Jang boys (9-10) led the way for the Mt. Baldy team with four first place apiece. Twitty won the butterfly (36.6), freestyle (25.9), backstroke (31.2) and breaststroke (39.4) while Jang took the free distance (1:09.6) backstroke (23.0), breaststroke (27.6) and butterfly (22.9).

Earning three first place awards were Donna Sedgewick in the girls 11-12 and John Moffet in the boys 11-12. Two-time winners were Kathie Haase in the girls 7-8, Maureen Leonard in girls 9-10 and Leila Fernandez in girls 13-14.

Other Mt. Baldy first place winners were Heather Ryan, Jacki Easton, Patsy Haase and Brian Jang.

Mt. Baldy Aquatics has openings for all swimmers. Additional information is available from Carolyn Easton at 987-2886.

Kings record first shutout

The Spittin' Image Claremont Kings recorded its first shut-out of the season by defeating Wilmington Atlas 2-0 last Saturday in Division II Pacific Soccer League play.

Mike Hammond scored twice with the assists credited to Greg Eyrich and Pat Jones. The Kings' defense was anchored by goalkeeper Bill Bryant, fullback Greg Eyrich, and halfback Lance Folden.

The Division III Claremont Stars were defeated 4-1 by Torrance Fram. Henry Gonzalez scored the Stars' goal. Scott Jackson was outstanding on defense.

This Saturday the Kings travel to San Pedro to play the San Pedro Bluejacks in a 1 p.m. game and the Division III Stars host the Palos Vérdes Rovers at 1 p.m. at El Roble Intermediate School.

Poly girls beat USC

Cal Poly women's basketball team defeated USC, 72-67, Tuesday night for its sixth win in seven games this season.

Linda Scheenstra led Poly with 16 points followed by Joan Uhl with 14 and Barb Thaller with 13. Thaller also grabbed 10 rebounds.

Coach Darlene May's team returns to action by hosting Biola in an 8 p.m. game next Tuesday at the women's gym.

The New York Yankees were the first to go over the million mark in road attendance in 1975. They reached the figures July 22 in Chicago.

Girls' loop sets signups

Signups for the Claremont Girls' Softball League will be held Feb. 5 and 13 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Taylor Hall in Claremont.

Claremont Girls' Softball is a program for girls residing within the Claremont Unified School District. A $10 registration fee will be charged for each girl, however, that fee is reduced for a family with more than two girls registering.

The league is comprised of three divisions. The Minor Division is for girls grades four through six, the Major Division for girls grades seven through nine and the Senior Division for girls grades 10 through 12.

For further information on the signups or the league, call Dolores Leary at (714) 624-9721.

Manager Billy Martin of the New York Yankees broke in with Idaho Falls in the Pioneer League in 1946.

Coliseum bill rejected

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposal that would make the televising of Los Angeles Rams home football games more likely by reducing the stated seating capacity of their stadium was rejected Wednesday by the California Assembly.

The bill by Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, would have declared the capacity of the Los Angeles Coliseum to be 78,000 seats instead of the current 92,000.

Federal law the last two years, now up for renewal by Congress, has required the televising of National Football League games in the home city if the games are sold out 72 hours in advance.

But Thomas said the Rams added 14,000 seats with limited view of the field, insuring them against a sellout for most games.

"Many seats are so far away from the playing field that it's difficult to distinguish the number of a player...or the team he plays for," Thomas said.

Some opponents called the bill an infringement on private business.

Lee moves up in scoring race

By The Associated Press

Oregon's Ron Lee is third in scoring among Pacific-8 basketball players and within range of leader Rich Washington after a 41-point performance against Seattle.

Washington, UCLA's star forward, is averaging 21.9 points through 17 games. Marv Safford of Southern Cal is next at 19.2, followed by Lee at 18.9, statistics released by the conference office Tuesday show.

There are just two Pac-8 games scheduled this week, and they could create a three-way tie for the conference lead.

Washington and Washington State, both 3-1, play at Seattle in a regionally televised game Saturday. UCLA could make its Pac-8 record 4-1 that night by beating USC and would share the lead with Oregon State and either Washington or WSU.

Oregon State's 4-1 record is safe until Feb. 5 when it plays California since the Beavers' meeting with Oregon Thursday night in Portland is their annual game which does not count in the standings.

Lee hit his career high of 41 points Monday night and also fed off nine assists, giving him an average of 5.6 assists per game. The Pac-8 leader in that department is George Tucker of Oregon State, with an average of 5.7.

Steve Puidokas of Washington State is first in rebounding, averaging 11.6 per game to the 11.3 of runner-up Ed Schweitzer of Stanford. Tim Patterson of Stanford has taken the field goal percentage lead, with an average of .591.

Lonnie Shelton of Oregon State is shooting at a .582 clip and the Beavers' team mark of .529 is by far best in the Pac-8.

The most startling statistic so far, however, is that visiting teams have won 10 of the 18 conference games played. Only UCLA and Oregon State are unbeaten on their home courts.

Luke Witte hurts ankle

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers said Monday that reserve center Luke Witte will be out of action for a week because of an ankle injury suffered during Saturday night's victory over Milwaukee.

Open or closed society now a public question

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether we should have an open or a closed society is now one of those enormous ideological themes that now and then moves from the world of academe directly into the daily public debate.

The nation's banks, traditionally an area of discreet privacy, have suddenly found themselves the subject of news stories.

There was a report recently that a dozen of the nation's 50 largest bank holding companies are on the Federal Reserve Board's "problem list." Another recent news story said the nation's second and third largest banks, First National City and Chase Mahattan, are on a similar list of the Comptroller of the Currency.

There are those in government and in the banking industry who claim such publicity is not in the public interest. It all amounts to part of a larger debate on the place of secrecy in our society.

There are those who hold that the workings of government must, of necessity, be secret. And there is a counter-argument that secrecy breeds corruption.

There are those, for example, who say the nation's intelligence operations should be an open book, to be read for profit not only by insiders but by the general public and potential adversaries too.

And there is a school that defends intelligence secrecy as the only way to protect a society we call free and open from blundering into mistakes that, it is feared, could undermine every other lofty idea.

Data, facts and activities that once were withheld "in the public interest" have now been pried loose from the Internal Revenue Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the business establishment, the investment community, the White House and other institutions and are now public knowledge.

A Freedom of Information Act prevents government from withholding certain information. And public interest groups now employ staffs whose job is to open up the system to examination and use by the public.

In almost all instances the prying has revealed information that many people consider shocking, and therefore each inquiry seems to generate another. And now the pressure is on the banks.

Disclosure of information about the nation's banking system always has been handled with great sensivitivity, restraint and secrecy, the rationale being that public confidence must be maintained even if problems are hidden.

The Federal Reserve Board, monitor and regulator of commercial banks, is one of the most independent and closed of all agencies of government. It repeatedly and effectively defends this posture as necessary for the common good.

The individual banks also have been highly secretive, and every so often they defend their practices with the same argument, which is essentially: what the public doesn't know is good for it.

Asked if recent disclosures of sometimes shaky finances, poor judgment and questionable management practices in banking has hurt rather than helped the country, a member of the Federal Reserve Board privately suggested the public was hurt.

The news media, he said, has made it more difficult for banks to lend. If they know that reports of their internal activities will be scrutinized by the public rather than restricted to certain federal officials, they will be reluctant to make some loans. And, he concluded, the economy will be hurt. But, he was asked, didn't the massive loan losses incurred by some banks lead to higher interest rates? Didn't banks cover their losses by raising prices? And therefore, wasn't the public damaged.

He agreed. But he went on to say the media remains at fault because of what he called its "snapshot" views of highly technical, complicated and changing matters. The story is a continuing one, he said, and requires a series of pictures.

That suggestion appears likely to be followed up, partly because congressional interest also is aroused in what goes on in the private world of high finance, where little is done that does not have a public impact.

There will be resistance.

"When we cast doubt on the integrity of our individual banks," said Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, "we take a risk — a great risk that could endanger a large part of our financial system."

Spurring the interest of Congress is the listing of some banks by the office of tha nation's comptroller as "problem banks" while defending them as sound. Another area of interest is whether or not federal regulators might have too comfortable a relationship with the people they regulate.

Jackson

demands that Palestinian representatives be included in any future negotiations.

Jackson and his advisers say they do not believe the Arab states have a deep commitment to such a Palestinian role.

However, Egypt, Syria and Jordan have made Israeli acceptance of the "national rights" of the Palestinians a major theme in recent United Nations speeches assailing Israel.

The Palestinians have said these rights mean the creation of a multinational, MoslemJewish-Christian state in the territory formerly occupied by Palestine which includes Israel, the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River in Jordan and the Gaza Strip.

Jackson, who has been a leading critic of the administration's policy of detente with the Soviet Union, said he does not quarrel with the concept but with its management.

"It's a matter of turning it around so we're not engaged in soft bargaining but in hard bargaining with the Russians," he said.

He said that in his opinion the Soviets have used detente as a cover for making "extraordinary attempts" to build up their armed forces and to exploit the United States, especially in sales of grain and other commodities.

Jackson said the Soviets need the food and scientific and technological resources of the United States.

"I would say to them, we will help you with these needs provided that you join us in achieving a reduction of arms and the freer movement of people," Jackson said. "That should be the basis of detente."

Another 'Jack the Ripper' terrorizing French town

NOGENT-SUR-OISE, France (AP) — This is the France of vacant lots, no-star restaurants, mud-caked sidewalks and a madman who has killed eight women.

He murdered again this month, dragging a 20-year-old typist into the garbage-strewn yard between a carpentry shop and a 12-room hotel.

The newspapers talked about the assassin of the shadows, the suburban Jack the Ripper and the monster from the banks of the Oise River, but the names were easy tags for a man who has brought a very glacial kind of terror to a very ordinary place.

It is the banality of the killer and his victims, the apparent Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday mediocrity of their lives, that the police say is making it hard for them. Like the salesmen and secretaries, their trousers too narrow, their skirts too unfashionably short, who file into the little station for the 7:14 to Paris, neither the murderer nor the dead women have offered enough distinguishing marks or clues to help.

"We have nothing," says a bearded detective transferred from Lille, 120 miles away, for the case. "I'm not kidding, nothing," he repeats, "No leads. What we know about the guy is public record.

"He's a hunter, he's meticulous, he's intelligent. He seems to get his pleasure out of preparing and watching his victims, because the crimes are committed very quickly. The women are not molested, although their underclothes are removed, and usually the killer takes their purse with him. We figure he may be impotent. But there's nothing unusual or inter-related about the women he's hit except that they are all brunettes. And there's nothing special about him obviously, because a minute after it's over, he blends perfectly, absolutely noiselessly, into this charming setting."

The setting is a four square-mile area in Nogent, population 15,636, and the neighboring village, Villers-St. Paul, population 3,939, about 30 miles north of Paris. It is a grey and black place of eggbox apartment buildings facing rows of attached houses of scabby brick. What there is left of a horizon is smothered by the smoke rising from the tanks and piping of the chemical plant just beyond the railroad tracks.

The killer knows the communities and their rhythms perfectly and acts at their only real moment of flux: when people are walking in the darkness to catch the train to Paris, or returning home at nightfall. Over the seven-year period that the killings have continued, they stop as the days lengthen out of winter and light comes to the commuting hours.

The series goes back to January 1969 when Andree Lecron, preparing her husband's dinner, was wounded in the shoulder by a .22 cailber bullet fired through a window. Thirteen days later, the first killing took place. Theresa Adam, a 49-year-old widow, was shot in the head and lacerated with a knife, as she got out of her car near her home. The murder pattern was virtually the same in November of that year when the body of Suzanne Merienne was found 600 feet from Mrs. Lecron's house.

A three-year gap followed before the next killing. When Mauricette Van Hyvte, 23, was discovered with a .22 caliber bullet in her head, the police thought then that they might find a break in the case by investigating the gap. Prison records, army enlistment lists, hospital records, the movements of road building teams in the area and the personnel records of local employers were studied. Messages went out all over Europe and France looking for similar crimes committed with a .22 caliber weapon. The result, with two detectives working full-time, was zero. And the killings continued.

There was one vague description, from the daughter of the second woman killed, to go on — that of a well-built young man with cat-like brown eyes. No fingerprints were available, the killer apparently wiping off doorknobs of the houses he entered.

At one point, the police thought they found a substantial clue in a bit of a plastic car cover found in an airline bag near a murder scene. The airline bag was one of hundreds of thousands sold in France, but the police decided to run down the purchasers of the car covers in the area. They spoke to 29 people who had covers. One more was unaccounted for from the stock records of a local supermarket — and it had been stolen.

The police have acknowledged some difficulty in determining whether the bullets were fired by a pistol or a rifle, but they tracked down 500 rifles sold in the area and checked the order blanks of what appears to be the manufacturer. Again a dead end.

After killing a woman a year ago, virtually the same scenario was acted out again Dec. 11 when Julia Goncalves, a 25-year-old Portuguese immigrant, was shot, stabbed and partially undressed. On Jan. 6, it was the turn of Francoise Jakubowska, killed as she walked to the station at Villers.

The reaction of residents to the eighth killing was less violent than might have been expected. There was an emergency municipal meeting at which more police were requested and groups of neighbors were formed to walk to the station together, but there were no shrill calls or demonstrations. The reason was that the townspeople know that since the heavy police presence to investigate the killings over the past years, all other crime, even hub-cap thefts, is statistically almost nonexistent.

After the Goncalves killing, the police started putting out their own statistics. So far, 4,800 apartments in the communities have been visited, and 598 reports have been made on unusual aspects of the visits. There have been 91 search warrants issued and hundreds of letters and telephoned tips run down. The No. 2 man in the national police, Honore Gevaudon, has taken over the investigation.

"It's a strange feeling riding around in a patrol car here," said a member of gendarmerie brigade at neighboring Creil. "You can see the curtains being pulled back one by one as you drive by. Nobody is on the streets at night. We saw a guy at 8:45 the other evening and we stopped him because it's such an odd sight now. He said he was going to work, so we drove him to plant. Everything was in order, but that gives you an idea of how we're pushing it."

For lack of harder evidence, a couple of theories have sprung up in the press. FranceSoir, calling on a psychiatrist, said the killer was sexually impotent and symbolically killing women representing, first, his mother, and more recently his wife or sister.

"The distressing thing with the killer," said the detective, "is that time would seem to be working for him, not us. Outside the ultimate aberration — that he murders people — he seems to be a very sane, ordinary guy, maybe even a good father. The problem is that it's not the needle in the haystack we're looking for, but one piece of straw in a pile of ten million."

Welfare costs

The federal government is paying for an ever-increasing share of the country's welfare programs, The Conference Board notes. Federal payments covered 63 per cent of total public aid expenditures in 1974, up from 44 per cent in 1950. The cost of the major public assistance programs — including Aid to Families with Dependent Children, medical vendor payments and assistance to the aged, blind and disabled — rose from $2.3 billion in 1950 to over $25 billion in 1974.

Get a taste of history on United's West Coaster Flights.

We're making history on United's West Coasters. With delicious dishes from 200 years of great Western cooking.

It's the Best of the West.
And it's all a part of Friendship Service on our daily West Coaster flights between Los Angeles and Seattle or Portland. Whatever your flight—whether it's breakfast, lunch, dinner or snacks—here's a tasty preview of what you might find.

Celebrate the Big Enchilada.
From the era of the Conquistadores, feast on tortillas, corn chips, rich-tasting chili, Huevos con Queso and, of course, the big enchilada. All with just the right touch of spice.

Hitch up with some Hangtown Fry.
Used to be Hangtown, California, wasn't such a great place to visit. Until one morning a miner passing through asked for the best breakfast the local cook could dream up. What he got was seasoned eggs scrambled up with seafood. For a dish that made even Hangtown a lot more palatable. And that's just part of our great find from the Gold Rush days.

Lose yourself over a California Haystack.
It's a California special. Fruit, nuts, coconut, a hint of chocolate—all stacked up to be the freshest tasting macaroon yet. And that's just dessert. We've got lots more light, fresh, naturally good dishes on our menu from today's West.

Leave your heart in Old San Francisco.
If you're a romantic at heart, you'll savor every part of our Victorian San Francisco menu. From Eggs Crepe Hollandaise to Scottish Banger with Paprika Sauce. And of course, San Francisco sourdough bread. So come taste the best of the West in the friendly skies.

Pentagon eyes ex-GIs for any emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are eyeing a growing pool of peacetime Army veterans as a possible source of trained military manpower in any emergency mobilization.

They calculate that, unless some new system is developed for tapping this pool, the Army would find itself about 250,000 men short of its urgent needs in the first months of a rapidly developing, intense war in Europe.

Although Pentagon officials are not dismissing the possibility of a long war, they appear most concerned about the Army's ability to mobilize enough trained men quickly in event of a sudden, massive Soviet attack on Western Europe.

The problem grows out of the shrinkage of the Army's Reserve since the end of the draft.

That Reserve manpower pool, drawn on in emergencies to fill out regular, National Guard and Reserve units to combat strength, used to receive a large and steady flow of young men who had finished two years as draftees and still had four years of military obligation to fulfill.

But now men who served in the peacetime volunteer Army enlist for three or more years. This means they spend longer on active duty and thus are subject to shorter periods of Reserve obligation than were the two-year draftees.

As a result, officials predict the Reserve will shrink by about two-thirds over the next three years, to a total of about 100,000 men.

Looking at the problem the Pentagon would face in event of a major Soviet attack on NATO at that time, military planners figure they would need an additional one million soldiers in the first four months after outbreak of the crisis. About 200,000 of these would be required to replace casualties in expectedly intense fighting.

But planners say a call-up of National Guard and Reserve units and mobilization of men from the depleted Reserve pool, plus some other limited sources, would leave the Army about 250,000 men short.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PROPOSED CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE ZONED DISTRICT ZONING CASE NO. 6168-(1)

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Regional Planning Commission on a proposed amendment to Section 322 of Ordinance No. 1494, thereby making changes in the Official Zoning Plan of the San Jose Zoned District No. 21, established by Ordinance No. 6112 on December 9, 1952.

TIME: Wednesday, February 18, 1976 at 9:00 a.m.

PLACE: Room 150, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012

REQUEST: From R-3-8,000-1U (Limited Multiple Residence — 8,000 square foot required area — 1 unit per acre) to R-R (Resort and Recreation).

LOCATION:

The subject property is a 4.0 acre irregularly shaped parcel located on the northwesterly corner of the intersection of Pathfinder Road and Diamond Bar Boulevard with a frontage of approximately 460 feet on Pathfinder and 260 feet on Diamond Bar. The property-in-question is more precisely described as follows: Beginning at the northwesterly terminus of that certain course described as having a bearing and length of "North 650 degrees 19' 22" West, 459.33 feet" in the Deed to Congregational Conference of Southern California recorded July 5, 1961, as Document No. 1725, thence North 24 degrees 40' 38" East, along the boundary of the land described in said Deed, 210.00 feet to an angle point in said boundary; thence North 37 degrees 28' 38" East, along said boundary, 65.00 feet to a second angle point therein; thence North 22 degrees 40' 38" East, along said boundary, 110.56 feet; thence South 55 degrees 18' 25" East, 541.75 feet to the northwesterly line of Diamond Bar Boulevard, 120.00 feet wide; thence South 34 degrees 41' 35" West, 260.58 feet to the beginning of a curve in the boundary of said Diamond Bar Boulevard being concave northerly and having a radius of 40.00 feet; thence westerly, along said curve, an arc distance of 55.84 feet to a point of tangency with the northeasterly line of Pathfinder Road, 100.00 feet wide; thence North 65 degrees 19' 22" West, along said Pathfinder Road, 100.00 feet wide, 459.33 feet to the point of beginning.

Notice is hereby giver that the Commission may recommend such other changes of zone from R-3-8,000-1U to R-R or such other use, whether more intense or less as the Commission deems appropriate within the area described as follows:

That certain area bounded on the southwest by Pathfinder Road, on the northwest by the existing subdivisions of Tracts 26681 and 28407, on the northeast by South Morning Canyon Road, and on the southeast by Diamond Bar Boulevard.

ENVIRONMENTAL DATA:

An assessment of the environmental impact of the proposed action will be on file with this case 10 days prior to hearing at the following locations:

1. Department of Regional Planning, Room 1300, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012
2. Department of Regional Planning, La Puente Branch Office, 16005 East Central Avenue, La Puente, California
3. Diamond Bar Community Library, 2815 Diamond Bar Boulevard, Diamond Bar, California 91766

In addition, maps and exhibits relating to the proposed zone change are on file at the main office.

By order of the Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, State of California.

Howard D. Martin, Chairman
Norman Murdoch,
Planning Director

Annual tea, tour scheduled

The Chaffey Community Republican Women Federated will hold its annual membership tea and sponsor a Heritage Home Tour on Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. The membership tea will be held at the Chaffey Community Cultural Center, 525 W. 18th St., Upland.

The group is also inviting the public to share in the celebration with a tour of some of the old homes in the area.

Mrs. David Hopley is the club's Bicentennial chairman and is in charge of the events of the day. Mrs. Dell McDaniel is tea chairman and Mrs. William Jones will be in charge of a boutique table. Proceeds from the boutique and home tour will help support the headquarters which provides a community service to the West End.

Tickets and more information may be obtained by calling Republican Headquarters, 983-4118, or the Chaffey Community Cultural Center, 986-9049.

Save steps

Combine the several steps involved in cleaning, stripping and waxing your kitchen floor, says Leslie Wood, consumer information specialist for Johnson Wax. Use a product such as Step Saver that removes the previous coat of wax at the same time it cleans and puts down a fresh coat of shine on resilient flooring.

Demonstration of cooking set

A treasury of recipes and techniques for freezing, drying and canning fruits, vegetables and meats will be the feature of "Kitchen Treasures from America's Heartland," a demonstration cooking class to be presented by Harriett Paine at Los Angeles based Lawry's California Center, 568 San Fernando Road.

The class will be held Feb. 4 and will be repeated Feb. 5 with classes at 1 or 7 p.m. There is a fee for the three-hour demonstration.

Mrs. Paine, award-winning adult education teacher and foods instructor at Cerritos College, will dispel everyday myths and show how easy it really is to enjoy the old-fashioned satisfaction of preserving quality products in the home kitchen. She will also explain the freezing of complete meals in advance by creating what she calls "gourmet platter meals."

Seating is limited and information on reservations may be made by calling Lawry's Foods, 213-225-2491, extension 258.

PANTS SEMINAR WILL STRESS FIT

Pants have become such a basic in every woman's wardrobe that they will never be out of style, according to sewing expert Erma Hall.

"Pants must go over, under, around and through. Look good standing, yet be comfortable when sitting." That's a large order, admits Ms. Hall, but "easy as flipping a flap-jack, once you know how."

Ms. Hall is now conducting "PERFECT-FIT PANTS SEMINARS" throughout the country in department stores and shopping centers where her kit is available. Her two-hour lecture demonstration displays her wide range of sewing and fitting expertise.

Many women sew beautifully, but their garments still have a homemade look because they haven't learned all the little pressing secrets, according to Ms. Hall. She passes these around like hors d'oeuvres during the seminar.

The kit includes her multi-size basic pattern designed to fit hip sizes from a tiny 32 up to 52 inches; and the book, which covers every detail of making a pair of pants from cuffs to closures, with fitting problems amply illustrated and explained.

"THE PERFECT-FIT PANTS KIT" is available at the seminars or can be ordered by mail, $7.95 plus $.55 postage from PERFECT-FIT PANTS, 7138 Forsyth, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.

The seminars are being held at Indian Hill Village, Pomona, Monday and Tuesday February 2 and 3 at 10:00 AM and again at 6:30 PM Seminars will be held in the Jewel Bug at the Indian Hill Village Shopping Center Admission is $3.00. Reservations can be made by calling 629-9745.

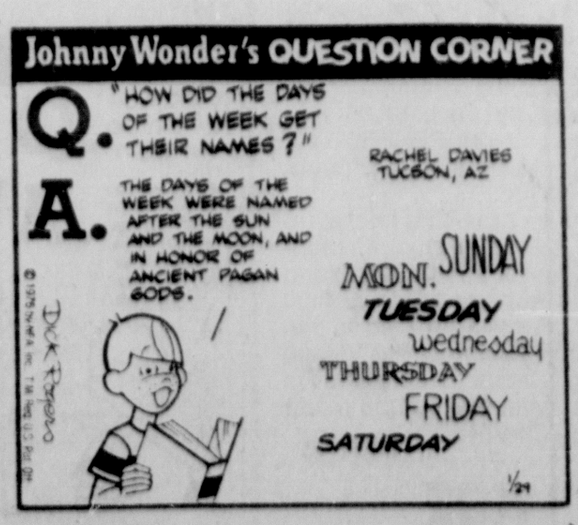
JOHNNY WONDER



Have you ever wondered where the names for the days of the week came from? The ancient Romans named the seven days after the sun, moon, and the five planets they knew.

They named the first two days of the week in honor of the sun and moon, and so we call them Sunday (sun's day) and Monday (moon's day).

The other five days were named for Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus, and Saturn, which are also the names of the old Roman gods and goddesses.

The Anglo-Saxons, a Germanic people who settled in England long ago and from whose language our English names come, changed the Roman names for four days and named them after their own gods.

Tuesday was the day of Tow (Tiw's day), the war god. Wednesday was named in honor of Woden (Woden's day), leader of their gods. Thursday was the day of Thor (Thor's day), god of thunder, and Friday the day of Frig, queen of the gods.

The Roman "Saturn's day" remained as Saturday.

THE LARGE SPHINX to which Caesar directs his opening monologue in the NBC-TV presentation of "Caesar and Cleopatra" Sunday night was sculpted from polystyrene blocks mounted on a wooden frame. Later the front half, painted gold, serves as the background for the Egyptian throne. The George Bernard Shaw work stars Alec Guiness and Genevieve Bujold. It's a Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation.

WHEN PIANIST JOSE ITURBI presented a recital in New York City's Lincoln Center in the week of his 80th birthday, he was presented with the Lincoln Center Medallion and a certificate of appreciation from the city. He said, "Your greetings are very encouraging. I promise you that the next 80 years I'm going to practice my piano."

'Murder by Death'

Stars glitter in Simon mystery

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Ray Stark has put together one of the zingiest casts in years for the Neil Simon original, "Murder By Death." It's so big and so powerful that the only way they could solve the billing problem was to list everybody alphabetically.

Listen to this list: Eileen Brennan, Truman Capote, James Coco, Peter Falk, Alec Guinness, Elsa Lanchester, David Niven, Peter Sellers, Maggie Smith, Nancy Walker and Estelle Winwood. There haven't been so many big names in one place since the last Oscar ceremony.

Maybe one of those names made you look twice. Truman Capote. He's a writer, isn't he? You're right. But he's making his acting debut in this.

The rest are all veterans. Miss Winwood, for example, is 92 years old, which makes her the veterans' veteran. And any smokers around might be happy to learn that, at 92, Miss Winwood is still smoking four packs a day and puffing away happily.

Curiously, all this wealth of talent is being directed by a man who has never directed a movie before. His name is Robert Moore and, although this is his first film, he can hardly be called a rookie.

Bob Moore is an old-timer on Broadway, having directed "The Boys In the Band" and several of Neil Simon's plays. He also directed most of the first season of Rhoda on TV.

"That was the year," he says, "when I couldn't find anything I liked on Broadway. I felt the TV thing was better than anything I'd read for the stage, so I did it and I enjoyed it."

But "Murder By Death" is his first crack at a movie, and he says he's enjoying it, although he finds the length of the day surprising. I asked him what the budget was for this film and he seemed surprised at the question.

"I have no idea," he said.

He says when he and Simon and Stark began casting the piece, they had some ideas — and they got everybody they wanted to do the parts they wanted them to do.

"People wonder how Ray Stark got such a great cast," he says, "but there's really no mystery to it. He just showed everybody the script, and it's such a great script that they were all anxious to do it."

It's a story of an eccentric millionaire (Capote) who invites the five greatest detectives in the world (Coco, Falk, Lanchester, Niven, Sellers) to a dinner and murder. The one who solves the crime gets one million dollars — tax-free.

Capote says he's enjoying his acting debut. Up to now, he hasn't thought too highly of actors, and this experience really hasn't changed his sturdy mind.

"There is really no correlation," he says, "between talent and intellect. You can be a brilliant actor and be dumb. Most actors are dumb. And a lot of directors and even many writers are dumb.

"Just because a person is talented is no reason to assume he has any brains. Tennessee Williams is a brilliant playwright, but he's not very bright. William Saroyan, too, is pretty dumb.

"Brando is dumb. That endless rhetoric he spouts says nothing. He'd like to believe that he's an intellect, but he isn't.

"Most of them are dumb — but there's a good reason for it. They have to keep in touch with their childlike selves to be successful actors. After all, acting is a very childish profession.

"I've always been a child myself — a super-intellectual child, but a child."

Although this is his first acting job, it is far from his first visit to a motion picture set. He has written "five or so" screenplays so he's been on many sets.

"I knew pretty much what to expect," he says. "Still, it's harder work than I had anticipated. The waiting is tiring and the attempt to put every scene in context is difficult."

He doesn't have to do this for money. His writing is a lucrative profession, to say the least. He has a new novel, "Answered Prayer," and he said that 20th Century-Fox paid him $200,000 just to read it.

"But they wanted to take the manuscript out of my home," he says. "And I knew that meant it would be Xeroxed and shown all around, and I coudln't have that. So I gave them back their $200,000."

As an experienced screenwriter, he says there is the constant temptation to make script suggestions. As an actor, however, he has to fight that temptation.

"I resist it," he says, "but it's always present."

Elsa Lanchester says that she and the other four detectives — they're all playing copies of famous fictional sleuths — have been told not to try and emulate the people their characters are modeled after. The director wants them all to play their characters straight.

"What it is," she says, "is a perfect example of ensemble playing."

Bob Moore, disagrees. He says he doesn't know what the term "ensemble playing" means.

"It's just that everybody here," he says, "is playing his part as well as he can.

"This script is perfectly balanced. There is no one big part. And that means that there is no upstaging, no jealousies, no friction among the players."

That, in itself, is news.

MURDER WILL OUT — A star-studded cast will appear in "Murder by Death," a comedy-mystery by Neil Simon, now filming in Hollywood. Some of the stars are Peter Falk, Alec Guinness, Maggie Smith, Peter Sellers, Elsa Lanchester and Truman Capote.

Signs up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walt Disney Productions has signed Jody Foster, 13, to a contract for two movies, starting with "Freaky Friday."

The young actress, who appeared in Disney's "Napoleon and Samantha" and "One Little Indian," will play a teen-ager whose wish to change places with her mother comes true.

TV castings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television castings:

Jackie Cooper, whose series "Mobile One" bombed this season, bounces back in a "Police Story" episode which will appear on NBC Feb. 13.

Jose Feliciano, who wrote the theme song for "Chico and the Man," will act in a segment of the series, appearing as Freddie Prinze's cousin.

Roger Moore, the incumbent James Bond, switches detectives to portray "Sherlock Holmes in New York" in an NBC World Premiere movie for next season.

Fractometer Yields Secrets Of Tobacco Flavor.

Researchers use smoke analysis to isolate key flavor ingredients of tobacco–low tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'™ achieved.

Not all ingredients of tobacco in cigarette smoke deliver the same amount of taste.

Or tar.

That's what researchers at Philip Morris discovered using an analytical fractometer to "crack" cigarette smoke down into its various parts.

Relying on this very sensitive, very special instrument, over 2000 separate ingredients were isolated and analyzed.

What this analysis revealed was startling:

There are ingredients in cigarette smoke—key flavor-rich ingredients—that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

Ingredients that, when packed into a tobacco blend, result in a cigarette that delivers extraordinary flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor'. It comes in the tobacco of a remarkable new cigarette: MERIT.

'Enriched Flavor' is extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't fade out, can't do anything but come through for you.

In fact, MERIT delivers the flavor of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. of tar. Lower than 98% of all cigarettes being sold today.

If you're looking to become a low tar smoker, or don't particularly enjoy the taste of the low tar brand you smoke now—you'll be interested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more— taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette. MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today—only 9 mg. tar. From Philip Morris.

*American Institute of Consumer Opinion. Study available free on request. Philip Morris Inc., Richmond, Va. 23261.
